Overview of This Information Collection

Title: Trusted Traveler Programs and U.S. APEC Business Travel Card.

OMB Number: 1651-0121.

Form Number: 823S (SENTRI) and 823F (FAST).

Current Actions: Revision of an existing information collection.

Type of Review: Revision.

Affected Public: Individuals and Businesses.

Abstract: This collection of information is for CBP's Trusted Traveler Programs including the Secure Electronic Network for Travelers Rapid Inspection (SENTRI), which allows expedited entry at specified southwest land border ports of entry; the Free and Secure Trade program (FAST), which provides expedited border processing for known, low-risk commercial drivers; and Global Entry which allows pre-approved, low-risk, air travelers dedicated processing clearance upon arrival into the United States.

The purpose of all of these programs is to provide prescreened travelers expedited entry into the United States. The benefit to the traveler is less time spent in line waiting to be processed. These Trusted Traveler programs are provided for in 8 CFR 235.7 and 235.12.

This information collection also includes the U.S. APEC Business Travel Card (ABTC) Program, which is a voluntary program that allows U.S. citizens to use fast-track immigration lanes at airports in the 20 other Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) member countries. This program is mandated by the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation Business Travel Cards Act of 2011, Public Law 112–54 and provided for by 8 CFR 235.13.

These collections of information include the data collected on the applications and kiosks for these programs. Applicants may apply to participate in these programs by using the Trusted Traveler Program Systems website (TTP) at <https://ttp.cbp.dhs.gov/> or at Trusted Traveler Enrollment Centers.

After arriving at the Federal Inspection Services area of the airport, participants in Global Entry can undergo a self-serve inspection process using a Global Entry kiosk. During the self-service inspection, participants have their photograph and fingerprints taken, submit identifying information, and answer several questions about items they are bringing into the United States. When using the Global Entry kiosks, participants are required to declare all articles being brought into the United States pursuant to 19 CFR 148.11.

Proposed Changes:

CBP will be updating the Trusted Travel Programs to align with the U.S. Department of State’s Passport Options: CBP will modify the Trusted Traveler Program application by adding a third gender marker, “X” for applicants identifying as non-binary, intersex, and/or gender non-conforming (in addition to the existing “male and “female” gender markers). The “X” marker will be categorized as “Unspecified or Another Gender Identity”, in the document sections of the electronic Trusted Traveler Programs application.

Title: Ship's Stores Declaration.

OMB Number: 1651-0018.

Form Number: CBP Form 1303.

Current Actions: Revision of an existing information collection.

Type of Review: Revision.

Affected Public: Businesses.

Abstract: CBP Form 1303, Ship's Stores Declaration, is used by the carriers to declare articles to be retained on board the vessel, such as sea stores, ship's stores (e.g., alcohol and tobacco products), controlled narcotic drugs or bunker fuel in a format that can be readily audited and checked by CBP. The form was developed as a single international standard ship's stores declaration form to replace the different forms used by various countries for the entrance and clearance of vessels. CBP Form 1303 collects information about the ship, the ports of arrival and departure, and the articles on the ship. This form is provided for by 19 CFR 4.7, 4.7a, 4.81, 4.85 and 4.87 and is accessible at: <https://www.cbp.gov/newsroom/publications/forms?title=1303&=Apply>.

Proposed Change

This form is anticipated to be submitted electronically as part of the maritime forms automation project through the Vessel Entrance and Clearance System (VECS), which will eliminate the need for any paper submission of any vessel entrance or clearance requirements under the above referenced statutes and regulations. VECS will still collect and maintain the same data but will automate the capture of data to reduce or eliminate redundancy with other data collected by CBP.

Type of Information Collection: CBP Form 1303.

Estimated Number of Total Annual Responses: 188,928.

PROPOSED REVOCATION OF THREE RULING LETTERS AND REVOCATION OF TREATMENT RELATING TO THE TARIFF CLASSIFICATION OF HOT & COLD WATER
DISPENSERS

AGENCY: U.S. Customs and Border Protection, Department of Homeland Security.

ACTION: Notice of proposed revocation of two ruling letters, and proposed revocation of treatment relating to the tariff classification of hot & cold water dispensers.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to section 625(c), Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. § 1625(c)), as amended by section 623 of title VI (Customs Modernization) of the North American Free Trade Agreement Implementation Act (Pub. L. 103–182, 107 Stat. 2057), this notice advises interested parties that U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) intends to revoke three ruling letters concerning tariff classification of hot and cold water dispensers under the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (HTSUS). Similarly, CBP intends to revoke any treatment previously accorded by CBP to substantially identical transactions. Comments on the correctness of the proposed actions are invited.

DATE: Comments must be received on or before July 15, 2022.

ADDRESS: Written comments are to be addressed to U.S. Customs and Border Protection, Office of Trade, Regulations and Rulings, Attention: Erin Frey, Commercial and Trade Facilitation Division, 90 K St., NE, 10th Floor, Washington, DC 20229–1177. Due to the COVID–19 pandemic, CBP is also allowing commenters to submit electronic comments to the following email address: 1625Comments@cbp.dhs.gov. All comments should reference the title of the proposed notice at issue and the Customs Bulletin volume, number and date of publication. Due to the relevant COVID–19-related restrictions, CBP has limited its on-site public inspection of public comments to 1625 notices. Arrangements to inspect submitted comments should be made in advance by calling Ms. Erin Frey at (202) 325–1757.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Emily Rick, Electronics, Machinery, Automotive and International Nomenclature Branch, Regulations and Rulings, Office of Trade, at (202) 325–0369.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:BACKGROUND

Current customs law includes two key concepts: informed compliance and shared responsibility. Accordingly, the law imposes an obligation on CBP to provide the public with information concerning the trade community's responsibilities and rights under the customs and related laws. In addition, both the public and CBP share responsibility in carrying out import requirements. For example, under section 484 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. § 1484), the importer of record is responsible for using reasonable care to enter, classify and value imported merchandise, and to provide any other information necessary to enable CBP to properly assess duties, collect accurate statistics, and determine whether any other applicable legal requirement is met.

Pursuant to 19 U.S.C. § 1625(c)(1), this notice advises interested parties that CBP is proposing to revoke three ruling letters pertaining to the tariff classification of hot and cold water dispensers. Although in this notice, CBP is specifically referring to New York Ruling Letters ("NY") B88990, dated September 22, 1997 (Attachment A), NY R00569, dated August 6, 2004 (Attachment B), and NY N283857 (Attachment C) this notice also covers any rulings on this merchandise which may exist, but have not been specifically identified. CBP has undertaken reasonable efforts to search existing databases for rulings in addition to the two identified. No further rulings have been found. Any party who has received an interpretive ruling or decision (i.e., a ruling letter, internal advice memorandum or decision, or protest review decision) on the merchandise subject to this notice should advise CBP during the comment period.

Similarly, pursuant to 19 U.S.C. § 1625(c)(2), CBP is proposing to revoke any treatment previously accorded by CBP to substantially identical transactions. Any person involved in substantially identical transactions should advise CBP during this comment period. An importer's failure to advise CBP of substantially identical transactions or of a specific ruling not identified in this notice may raise issues of reasonable care on the part of the importer or its agents for importations of merchandise subsequent to the effective date of the final decision on this notice.

In NY B88990, NY R00569, and NY N283857 CBP classified hot and cold water dispensers in heading 8418, HTSUS, which provides for "Refrigerators, freezers and other refrigerating or freezing equipment, electric or other; heat pumps, other than the air conditioning machines of heading 8415; parts thereof." CBP has reviewed NY

B88990, NY R00569, and NY N283857 and has determined the ruling letters to be in error. It is now CBP's position that hot and cold water dispensers are properly classified in heading 8516, HTSUS, which provides for "Electric instantaneous or storage water heaters and immersion heaters; electric space heating apparatus and soil heating apparatus; electrothermic hairdressing apparatus (for example, hair dryers, hair curlers, curling tong heaters) and hand dryers; electric flatirons; other electrothermic appliances of a kind used for domestic purposes; electric heating resistors, other than those of heading 8545; parts thereof."

Pursuant to 19 U.S.C. § 1625(c)(1), CBP is proposing to revoke NY B88990, NY R00569, and NY N 283857, and to revoke or modify any other ruling not specifically identified to reflect the analysis contained in the proposed Headquarters Ruling Letter ("HQ") H322878, set forth as Attachment D to this notice. Additionally, pursuant to 19 U.S.C. § 1625(c)(2), CBP is proposing to revoke any treatment previously accorded by CBP to substantially identical transactions.

Before taking this action, consideration will be given to any written comments timely received.

RE: The tariff classification of water coolers.

DEAR MR. HODES:

In your letter dated February 16, 2017 you requested a tariff classification ruling on behalf of your client, Elkay Manufacturing Company.

The merchandise is described as water coolers. Models DSPOUWCF1 and DSPOUWCF5G are imported with connections that directly connect to a water supply. Water bottles are the water source for models DSBWCT1, DSBWCT5G, DSBWCB1 and DSBWCB5G. Hot and cold water is dispensed from each cooler by depressing the appropriate push button water control. Cold water is produced by a reciprocating compressor that chills water. The condenser coils mounted on the back of the unit receive refrigerant circulated by the compressor.

The applicable subheading for the water coolers, models DSBWCT1, DSBWCT5G, DSBWCB1 and DSBWCB5G will be 8418.69.0120, which provides for drinking water coolers, self-contained. The rate of duty is free.

The applicable subheading for the water coolers, models DSPOUWCF1 and DSPOUWCF5G will be 8418.69.0180, Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (HTSUS), which provides for other refrigerating or freezing equipment. The rate of duty is Free.

Duty rates are provided for your convenience and are subject to change. The text of the most recent HTSUS and the accompanying duty rates are provided on the World Wide Web at <https://hts.usitc.gov/current>.

RE: Revocation of NY B88990, NY R00569, and NY N283857; Tariff classification of hot and cold water dispensers.

DEAR MR. CRAGO:

This ruling is in reference to New York Ruling Letter (NY) R00569, dated August 6, 2004, regarding the classification of a hot and cold water dispenser under the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (HTSUS). In NY R00569, U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) classified the subject article in heading 8418, HTSUS, which provides for “Refrigerators, freezers and other refrigerating or freezing equipment, electric or other; heat pumps, other than the air conditioning machines of heading 8415; parts thereof.” Upon reconsideration, CBP has determined that NY R00569 is in error.

We have also reviewed NY B88990, dated September 22, 1997, and NY N283857, dated March 22, 2017, which classify substantially similar hot and cold water dispensers in heading 8418, HTSUS. As with NY R00569, we have determined that the tariff classification of the subject merchandise in these rulings is incorrect.

CBP is revoking NY R00569, NY B88990, and NY N283857 according to the analysis set forth below.

FACTS:

In NY R00569, the subject merchandise is described as a thermoelectric desktop water dispenser, featuring a stainless-steel hot water tank, and a separate thermoelectric chamber for cold water. The unit is further described as having hot and cold switches, a removable drip tray, and a light-emitting diode (LED) indicator light. The water dispenser is compatible with a three or five gallon water bottle, which fits into the top of the unit.

In NY B88990, CBP described the “Dual Quick Water Dispenser” as a drinking water dispenser, providing cold water or hot water for coffee, tea or soup. The unit is further described as having a compression type refrigeration system and a band heater for hot water.

In NY N283857, the merchandise is described as water coolers, dispensing hot and cold water. Two models are designed to connect directly to a water supply, while four additional models rely on a water bottle. Cold water is produced by a reciprocating compressor, with coils mounted on the back of the unit to receive refrigerant circulated by the compressor.

ISSUE:

Whether water dispensers that both chill and heat water are properly classified in heading 8418, HTSUS, which provides for “Refrigerators, freezers and other refrigerating or freezing equipment, electric or other; heat pumps, other than the air conditioning machines of heading 8415; parts thereof” or in heading 8516, HTSUS, which provides for “Electric instantaneous or storage water heaters and immersion heaters; electric space heating apparatus and soil heating apparatus; electrothermic hairdressing apparatus (for example, hair dryers, hair curlers, curling tong heaters) and hand dryers; electric flatirons; other electrothermic appliances of a kind used for domestic purposes; electric heating resistors, other than those of heading 8545; parts thereof.”

LAW AND ANALYSIS:

Classification under the HTSUS is in accordance with the General Rules of Interpretation (GRIs). GRI 1 provides that the classification of goods will be determined according to the terms of the headings of the tariff schedule and any relative section or chapter notes. In the event that the goods cannot be classified solely on the basis of GRI 1, and if the headings and legal notes do not otherwise require, the remaining GRIs 2 through 6 will then be applied in order. GRI 2(b) states that “the classification of goods consisting of more than one material or substance shall be according to the principles of rule 3.”

GRI 3(a) provides that “the heading which provides the most specific description shall be preferred to headings providing a more general description.” GRI 3(b) states, in pertinent part, that composite goods that cannot be classified by reference to GRI 3(a), are to be classified as if they consisted of the component that gives them their essential character. GRI 3(c) provides that when goods cannot be classified by reference to GRI 3(a) or 3(b), they are to be classified in the heading that occurs last in numerical order among the competing headings that equally merit consideration.

The following provisions of the HTSUS are under consideration:

8418 Refrigerators, freezers and other refrigerating or freezing equipment, electric or other; heat pumps, other than the air conditioning machines of heading 8415; parts thereof:

* * *

8516 Electric instantaneous or storage water heaters and immersion heaters; electric space heating apparatus and soil heating apparatus; electrothermic hairdressing apparatus (for example, hair dryers, hair curlers, curling tong heaters) and hand dryers; electric flatirons; other electrothermic appliances of a kind used for domestic purposes; electric heating resistors, other than those of heading 8545; parts thereof:

Section XVI, Note 3 states that:

Unless the context otherwise requires, composite machines consisting of two or more machines fitted together to form a whole and other machines designed for the purpose of performing two or more complementary or alternative functions are to be classified as if consisting only of that component or as being that machine which performs the principal function.

All three of the water dispensers under consideration are designed to dispense hot and cold water. In other words, they perform two complementary functions: a refrigeration function designed to chill water, and a heating function designed to heat water. They are composite machines, covered by Note 3 to Section XVI. In assessing whether the devices have a principal function, we note that although the three dispensers are configured differently (e.g., differing uses of tanks and different types of refrigeration or heating technology), the heating and cooling of water is accomplished in parallel. Likewise, there is no indication that the refrigerating or heating equipment housed within the subject dispensers is more robust or effective. As such, we conclude that neither the refrigeration function nor the heating function constitutes the “principal” function of the water dispenser.

The Explanatory Notes* to Note 3 to Section XVI provide:

(VI) MULTI FUNCTION MACHINES
AND COMPOSITE MACHINES

(Section Note 3)

In general, multi-function machines are classified according to the principal function of the machine.

Multi-function machines are, for example, machine-tools for working metal using interchangeable tools, which enable them to carry out different machining operations (e.g., milling, boring, lapping).

Where it is not possible to determine the principal function, and where, as provided in Note 3 to the Section, the context does not otherwise require, it is necessary to apply General Interpretative Rule 3 (c); such is the case, for example, in respect of multi function machines potentially classifiable in several of the headings 84.25 to 84.30, in several of the headings 84.58 to 84.63 or in several of the headings 84.70 to 84.72.

Turning, then, the GRI 3, it is clear that neither heading provides a more specific description of the merchandise: both headings describe only part of the water dispenser. Neither the refrigeration component, nor the heating component gives the water dispenser its essential character. Thus, the goods cannot be classified pursuant to GRI 3(a) or GRI 3(b). The hot and cold water dispensers are therefore classified pursuant to GRI 3(c), in the heading occurring last in numerical order among those which equally merit consideration, heading 8516, HTSUS.

HOLDING:

By application of GRIs 1, 3(c) and 6, the water dispensers at issue in NY R00569, NY B88990, and NY N 283857 are classified in heading 8516, HTSUS, and are specifically provided for under subheading 8516.79.00, HTSUS, which provides for “Electric instantaneous or storage water heaters and immersion heaters; electric space heating apparatus and soil heating apparatus; electrothermic hairdressing apparatus (for example, hair dryers, hair curlers, curling tong heaters) and hand dryers; electric flatirons; other electrothermic appliances of a kind used for domestic purposes; electric heating resistors, other than those of heading 8545; parts thereof: Other electrothermic appliances: Other.” The general, column one rate of duty for merchandise of subheading 8516.79.00, HTSUS, is 2.7% ad valorem.

* The Explanatory Notes (ENs) to the Harmonized Commodity Description and Coding System represent the official interpretation of the tariff at the international level. While neither legally binding nor dispositive, the ENs provide a commentary on the scope of each heading of the HTSUS and are generally indicative of the proper interpretation of these headings. See T.D. 89–80, 54 Fed. Reg. 35127, 35128 (August 23, 1989).

MODIFICATION OF A RULING LETTER AND REVOCATION OF TREATMENT RELATING TO THE TARIFF
CLASSIFICATION OF POLYETHERETHERKETONE POWDER

AGENCY: U.S. Customs and Border Protection, Department of Homeland Security.

ACTION: Notice of modification of a ruling letter relating to the origin of polyetheretherketone powder.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to section 625(c), Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. § 1625(c)), as amended by section 623 of title VI (Customs Modernization) of the North American Free Trade Agreement Implementation Act (Pub. L. 103–182, 107 Stat. 2057), this notice advises interested parties that U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) is modifying a ruling letter concerning the origin of polyetheretherketone (PEEK) powder. Similarly, CBP is revoking any treatment previously accorded by CBP to substantially identical transactions. Notice of the proposed action was published in the Customs Bulletin, Vol. 56, No. 14, on April 13, 2022. No comments were received in response to that notice.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This action is effective for merchandise entered or withdrawn from warehouse for consumption on or after August 14, 2022.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Joy Marie Virga, Valuation and Special Programs Branch, Regulations and Rulings, Office of Trade, at (202) 325–1511.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:BACKGROUND

Current customs law includes two key concepts: informed compliance and shared responsibility. Accordingly, the law imposes an obligation on CBP to provide the public with information concerning the trade community's responsibilities and rights under the customs and related laws. In addition, both the public and CBP share responsibility in carrying out import requirements. For example, under section 484 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. § 1484), the importer of record is responsible for using reasonable care to enter, classify and value imported merchandise, and to provide any other information necessary to enable CBP to properly assess duties, collect accurate statistics, and determine whether any other applicable legal requirement is met.

Pursuant to 19 U.S.C. § 1625(c)(1), a notice was published in the Customs Bulletin, Vol. 56, No. 14, on April 13, 2022, proposing to modify a ruling letter pertaining to the origin of PEEK powder. Any party who has received an interpretive ruling or decision (i.e., a ruling letter, internal advice memorandum or decision, or protest review decision) on the merchandise subject to this notice should have advised CBP during the comment period.

Similarly, pursuant to 19 U.S.C. § 1625(c)(2), CBP is revoking any treatment previously accorded by CBP to substantially identical transactions. Any person involved in substantially identical transactions should have advised CBP during the comment period. An importer's failure to advise CBP of substantially identical transactions or of a specific ruling not identified in this notice may raise issues of reasonable care on the part of the importer or its agents for importations of merchandise subsequent to the effective date of this notice.

In New York Ruling Letter ("NY") N111878, dated July 14, 2010, CBP found that tempering PEEK powder in Germany resulted in a substantial transformation. CBP has reviewed NY N111878 and has determined the ruling letter to be in error. It is now CBP's position the tempering of PEEK powder was not a substantial transformation and the country of origin of the PEEK powder was the United Kingdom.

Pursuant to 19 U.S.C. § 1625(c)(1), CBP is modifying NY N111878 and revoking or modifying any other ruling not specifically identified to reflect the analysis contained in Headquarters Ruling Letter ("HQ") H305264, set forth as an attachment to this notice. Additionally, pursuant to 19 U.S.C. § 1625(c)(2), CBP is revoking any treatment previously accorded by CBP to substantially identical transactions.

In accordance with 19 U.S.C. § 1625(c), this ruling will become effective 60 days after publication in the Customs Bulletin.

RE: Modification of NY N111878; Polyetheretherketone Powder

DEAR MR. POMMER:

This is in reference to New York Ruling Letter (“NY”) N111878, dated July 14, 2010, issued to EOS GmbH Electro Optical Systems (“EOS”). In NY N111878, U.S. Customs and Border Protection (“CBP”) determined, in relevant part, that polyetheretherketone (“PEEK”) powder of U.K.-origin was substantially transformed in Germany and therefore a product of Germany. We have reviewed NY N111878 and found it to be in error. For the reasons set forth below, with respect to the country of origin of the subject PEEK powder, we hereby revoke NY N111878.

FACTS:

Untempered polyetheretherketone powder (“PEEK”), CAS number 27380–27–4, classifiable under subheading 3907.20, Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (HTSUS) and in the form of a fine powder is imported from the United Kingdom into Germany. PEEK is a thermoplastic polymer that can be used in engine parts and heat exchange applications. PEEK is an organic semi-crystalline engineering polymer in the polyaryletherketone family of plastics, which is one of the most important in additive manufacturing due to its high strength, temperature resistance and chemical resistance. PEEK is commercially available in several grades according to different molecular weights (or melt viscosities) to meet the requirements of different melt-processing methods. PEEK can be processed by conventional methods such as injection molding, extrusion, compression molding etc. The processing conditions used to mold PEEK can influence the crystallinity, and hence its mechanical properties.

In Germany, the PEEK is further processed by a tempering step. Tempering allows PEEK to be used at high temperatures in laser-sintering machines for dosing and recoating. Prior to this process, the raw material imported into Germany cannot be used for laser sintering. The tempered PEEK powder, also classifiable under subheading 3907.20, HTSUS, is intended for export to the United States for use in injection molding, extrusion, compression molding and composites for the manufacture of engine parts and in heat exchange applications.

Laser sintering or powder bed fusion is an additive manufacturing process (3-D printing) where a laser consolidates, layer upon layer, powdered materials to build three dimensional objects, prototypes, or fully functional parts. Because laser sintering can create complex light weight parts without compromising functional requirements, manufacturers have become increasingly interested in laser sintering manufacturing, particularly in the aerospace, automotive, and medical industries. PEEK is a polymer commonly used in laser sintering.

Manufacturers who produce articles of PEEK via laser sintering face challenges that arise from the semi-crystalline nature of PEEK.¹ The semi-crystalline nature makes PEEK highly susceptible to changes in processing conditions which can lead to variation of the final performance of PEEK. However, tempering PEEK prior to laser sintering controls the crystallization of PEEK and the level of residual stress in the printed items. Additionally, tempering PEEK creates better packing during manufacture of an article and changes the angle of response or shape of PEEK powder particles, which improves the particle flow.²

ISSUE:

Whether the country of origin of the subject PEEK powder is Germany.

LAW AND ANALYSIS:

Section 304 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. § 1304), provides, in relevant part:

(a) Marking of articles. Except as hereinafter provided, every article of foreign origin ... imported into the United States shall be marked in a conspicuous place as legibly, indelibly, and permanently as the nature of the article (or container) will permit in such manner as to indicate to an ultimate purchaser in the United States the English name of the country of origin of the article.

Part 134, U.S. Customs and Border Protection (“CBP”) Regulations (19 C.F.R. Part 134), implements the country of origin marking requirements of 19 U.S.C. § 1304. Title 19, Section 134.1(b) defines “country of origin” as “the country of manufacture, production, or growth of any article of foreign origin entering the United States. Further work or material added to an article in another country must effect a substantial transformation in order to render such other country the ‘country of origin’ within the meaning of this part; . . .”

A substantial transformation occurs when an article emerges from a manufacturing process with a name, character, or use, which differs from the original material subjected to the process. In Nat’l Hand Tool Corp. v. United States, 16 CIT 308, aff’d per curiam, 989 F.2d 1201 (Fed. Cir. 1993), the Court of International Trade determined that hand tool components, which were cold-formed and hot-forged in Taiwan into their final shape, with post-importation processing such as heat treatment and electroplating, and assembly occurring in the United States, did not undergo substantial transformation in the United States. There was no change in name because each article as imported had the same name in the completed tool. There was no change in character because the articles remained the same after heat treatment, electroplating, and assembly in the United States. The use of the imported articles was predetermined at the time of entry – each component was intended to be incorporated in a particular finished mechanics’ hand tool, except for one exhibit with a dual use. The court rejected the importer’s claim that the value added in the United States was relatively significant to the operation in Taiwan so that substantial transformation should be found, determining that such a finding could lead to inconsistent marking requirements for importers who perform exactly the same processes on imported merchandise but sell at different prices.

A similar finding was made in Superior Wire v. United States, 867 F. 2d 1409 (Fed. Cir. 1989), where the appellate court affirmed the Court of International Trade’s holding that no substantial transformation occurred from the multi-stage process of drawing wire rod into wire. In that case, the court noted that the “end use of the wire rod is generally known before the rolling stage and the specifications are frequently determined by reference to the end product for which the drawing wire will be used.” Accordingly, the court found that the character of the final product was predetermined and that the processing did not result in a significant change in either character or use of the imported material. While the wire rod and processed wire had different names and identities in the industry, the court concluded that they were essentially different stages of the same product.

Customs has generally held that a heat treatment will result in a substantial transformation only if alters the article’s mechanical properties to a significant extent. See Headquarters Ruling Letters (“HQ”) 083236 dated May 16, 1989. The decision in Ferrostaal Metals Corp. v. United States, 664 F.Supp. 535, 11 CIT 470 (1987), is also pertinent. That case concerned whether certain operations performed on cold-rolled steel sheet, described as a continuous hot-dip galvanizing process, substantially transformed the sheet. The process involved two steps: annealing, undertaken to restore the steel’s ductility lost in a previous cold rolling, and galvanizing, or dipping the steel in a pot of molten zinc. The court held that the continuous hot-dip galvanizing process resulted in a substantial transformation, in part, because the process changed the character of the steel sheet by significantly altering its mechanical properties and chemical composition.

In HQ 561978, dated December 22, 2000, CBP considered the origin of polytetrafluoroethylene (“PTFE”), a fluoropolymer (type of plastic) used for a variety of purposes, including as a non-stick coating for metals and other plastics. The manufacturer in that case imported PTFE into Italy in powder form from Russia, Poland or China. The PTFE was processed in Italy by one of two methods then sold to the United States. The first method involved heating the PTFE powder in a pre-sintering oven to its gel point of approximately 370 degrees to create extrusion grade PTFE. This process hardened and agglomerated the PTFE, but no filler or other ingredient was added. The second method of processing in Italy involved mixing and blending the powder PTFE with filler materials of different types and quantities (also of non-Italian origin) to create “filled” PTFE. In the second scenario, the milling, mixing, and blending of the virgin PTFE with filler materials in Italy did not result in a substantial transformation of the PTFE. Similarly, in the first scenario, CBP found that while the heat treatment to which the PTFE was subjected hardened and agglomerated the product, the process caused no significant change in the mechanical properties or chemical composition of the product. Therefore, CBP found that no substantial transformation of the PTFE occurred in Italy.

In this case, while the tempering of the PEEK that takes place in Germany may enable the PEEK to be better suited for laser-sintering, the basic properties remain the same. Tempering changes the shape and structure of PEEK particles, and while this process creates better stability and flow during manufacture of an article, we find this to be a minor change. After tempering, the PEEK remains a manufactured PEEK resin whose basic properties are determined in the initial production process. Therefore, we find that there is no substantial transformation, and the country origin of the PEEK is the United Kingdom.

HOLDING:

Based on the information presented, the PEEK described in NY N111878 has a country of origin of the United Kingdom for marking purposes.

EFFECT ON OTHER RULINGS:

NY N111878, dated July 14, 2010, is hereby REVOKED.

In accordance with 19 U.S.C. § 1625(c), this ruling will become effective 60 days after its publication in the Customs Bulletin.

Sincerely,

DISTRIBUTION OF CONTINUED DUMPING AND SUBSIDY OFFSET TO AFFECTED DOMESTIC PRODUCERS

AGENCY: U.S. Customs and Border Protection, Department of Homeland Security.

ACTION: Notice of intent to distribute offset for Fiscal Year 2022.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to the Continued Dumping and Subsidy Offset Act of 2000, this document is U.S. Customs and Border Protection's (CBP) notice of intent to distribute assessed antidumping or countervailing duties (known as the continued dumping and subsidy offset) for Fiscal Year 2022 in connection with countervailing duty orders, antidumping duty orders, or findings under the Antidumping Act of 1921. This document provides the instructions for affected domestic producers, or anyone alleging eligibility to receive a distribution, to file certifications to claim a distribution in relation to the listed orders or findings.

DATES: Certifications to obtain a continued dumping and subsidy offset under a particular order or finding must be received by August 1, 2022. Any certification received after August 1, 2022 will be summarily denied, making claimants ineligible for the distribution.

ADDRESSES: Certifications and any other correspondence (whether by mail, or an express or courier service) must be addressed to U.S. Customs and Border Protection, Revenue Division, Attention: CDSOA Team, 6650 Telecom Drive, Suite 100, Indianapolis, IN 46278.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Robin Batt, CDSOA Team, Revenue Division, 6650 Telecom Drive, Suite 100, Indianapolis, IN 46278; telephone (317) 614-4462.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

The Continued Dumping and Subsidy Offset Act of 2000 (CDSOA) was enacted on October 28, 2000, as part of the Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2001 (the “Act”). The provisions of the CDSOA are contained in title X (sections 1001–1003) of the Appendix of the Act (H.R. 5426).

The CDSOA amended title VII of the Tariff Act of 1930 by adding a new section 754 (codified at 19 U.S.C. 1675c) in order to provide that assessed duties received pursuant to a countervailing duty order, an antidumping duty order, or a finding under the Antidumping Act of 1921 will be distributed to affected domestic producers for certain qualifying expenditures that these producers incur after the issuance of such an order or finding. The term “affected domestic producer” means any manufacturer, producer, farmer, rancher or worker representative (including associations of such persons) who:

(A) Was a petitioner or interested party in support of a petition with respect to which an antidumping duty order, a finding under the Antidumping Act of 1921, or a countervailing duty order has been entered;

(B) Remains in operation continuing to produce the product covered by the countervailing duty order, the antidumping duty order, or the finding under the Antidumping Act of 1921; and

(C) Has not been acquired by another company or business that is related to a company that opposed the antidumping or countervailing duty investigation that led to the order or finding (e.g., opposed the petition or otherwise presented evidence in opposition to the petition).

The distribution that these parties may receive is known as the continued dumping and subsidy offset.

Section 7601(a) of the Deficit Reduction Act of 2005 repealed 19 U.S.C. 1675c. According to section 7701 of the Deficit Reduction Act, the repeal takes effect as if enacted on October 1, 2005. However, section 7601(b) provides that all duties collected on an entry filed before October 1, 2007, must be distributed as if 19 U.S.C. 1675c had not been repealed by section 7601(a). The funds available for distribution were also affected by section 822 of the Claims Resolution Act of 2010 and section 504 of the Tax Relief, Unemployment Insurance Reauthorization, and Job Creation Act of 2010.

Historically, the antidumping and countervailing duties assessed and received by U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) on CDSOA-subject entries, along with the interest assessed and received on those duties pursuant to 19 U.S.C. 1677g, were transferred to the CDSOA Special Account for distribution. 66 FR 48546, Sept. 21, 2001; see also 19 CFR 159.64(e). Other types of interest, including delinquency interest that accrued pursuant to 19 U.S.C. 1505(d), equitable interest under common law, and interest under 19 U.S.C. 580, were not subject to distribution. Id.

Section 605 of the Trade Facilitation and Trade Enforcement Act of 2015 (TFTEA) (Pub. L. 114–125, February 24, 2016; codified as 19 U.S.C. 4401), provided new authority for CBP to deposit into the CDSOA Special Account for distribution delinquency interest that accrued pursuant to 19 U.S.C. 1505(d), equitable interest under common law, and interest under 19 U.S.C. 580 for all surety payments received by CBP on or after October 1, 2014, on CDSOA subject entries, as well as post-judgment interest received by CBP on those surety payments. See 28 U.S.C. 1961.

On May 28, 2021, President Biden ordered the sequester of non-exempt budgetary resources for Fiscal Year 2022 pursuant to section 251A of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended (86 FR 29927, June 3, 2021). To implement this sequester during Fiscal Year 2022, the calculation of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) requires a reduction of 5.7 percent of the assessed duties and interest received in the CDSOA Special Account (account number 015–12–5688). OMB has concluded that any amounts sequestered in the CDSOA Special Account during Fiscal Year 2022 will become available in the subsequent fiscal year. See 2 U.S.C. 906(k)(6). As a result, CBP intends to include the funds that are temporarily reduced via sequester during Fiscal Year 2022 in the continued dumping and subsidy offset for Fiscal Year 2022, which will be distributed not later than 60 days after the first day of Fiscal Year 2023 in accordance with 19 U.S.C. 1675c(c). In other words, the continued dumping and subsidy offset that affected domestic producers receive for Fiscal Year 2022 will include the funds that were temporarily sequestered during Fiscal Year 2022.

Because of the statutory constraints in the assessments of anti-dumping and countervailing duties, as well as the additional time involved when the Government must initiate litigation to collect delinquent antidumping and countervailing duties, the CDSOA distribution process will be continued for an undetermined period. Consequently, the full impact of the CDSOA repeal on amounts available for distribution has been delayed for several years. It should also be noted that amounts distributed may be subject to recovery as a result of reliquidations, court actions, administrative errors, and other reasons.

List of Orders or Findings and Affected Domestic Producers

It is the responsibility of the U.S. International Trade Commission (USITC) to ascertain and timely forward to CBP a list of the affected domestic producers that are potentially eligible to receive an offset in connection with an order or finding. In this regard, it is noted that the USITC has supplied CBP with the list of individual antidumping and countervailing duty cases, and the affected domestic producers associated with each case who are potentially eligible to receive an offset. This list appears at the end of this document.

A significant amount of litigation has challenged various provisions of the CDSOA, including the definition of the term “affected domestic producer.” In two decisions, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit (Federal Circuit) upheld the constitutionality of the support requirement contained in the CDSOA. Specifically, in SKF USA Inc. v. United States Customs & Border Prot., 556 F.3d 1337 (Fed. Cir. 2009), the Federal Circuit held that the CDSOA’s support requirement did not violate either the First or Fifth Amendment. The Supreme Court of the United States denied plaintiff’s petition for certiorari, SKF USA, Inc. v. United States Customs & Border Prot., 560 U.S. 903 (2010). Similarly, in PS Chez Sidney, L.L.C. v. United States, 409 Fed. Appx. 327 (Fed. Cir. 2010), the Federal Circuit summarily reversed the U.S. Court of International Trade’s judgment that the support requirement was unconstitutional, allowing only plaintiff’s non-constitutional claims to go forward. See PS Chez Sidney, L.L.C. v. United States, 684 F.3d 1374 (Fed. Cir. 2012). Furthermore, in two cases interpreting the CDSOA’s language, the Federal Circuit concluded that a producer who never indicates support for a dumping petition by letter or through questionnaire response, despite the act of otherwise filling out a questionnaire, cannot be an affected domestic producer. Ashley Furniture Indus., Inc. et al. v. United States, 734 F.3d 1306 (Fed. Cir. 2013), cert. denied, 135 S. Ct. 72 (2014); Giorgio Foods, Inc. v. United States et al., 785 F.3d 595 (Fed. Cir. 2015).

Domestic producers who are not on the USITC list but believe they nonetheless are eligible for a CDSOA distribution under one or more antidumping and/or countervailing duty cases are required, as are all potential claimants that expressly appear on the list, to properly file their certification(s) within 60 days after this notice is published. Such domestic producers must allege all other bases for eligibility in their certification(s). CBP will evaluate the merits of such claims in accordance with the relevant statutes, regulations, and decisions. Certifications that are not timely filed within the requisite 60 days and/or that fail to sufficiently establish a basis for eligibility will be summarily denied. Additionally, CBP may not make a final decision regarding a claimant's eligibility to receive funds until certain legal issues which may affect that claimant's eligibility are resolved. In these instances, CBP may withhold an amount of funds corresponding to the claimant's alleged pro rata share of funds from distribution pending the resolution of those legal issues.

It should also be noted that the Federal Circuit ruled in Canadian Lumber Trade Alliance v. United States, 517 F.3d 1319 (Fed. Cir. 2008), cert. denied sub nom. United States Steel v. Canadian Lumber Trade Alliance, 129 S. Ct. 344 (2008), that CBP was not authorized to distribute such antidumping and countervailing duties to the extent they were derived from goods from countries that are parties to the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). Due to this decision, CBP does not list cases related to NAFTA on the Preliminary Amounts Available report, and no distributions will be issued on these cases.

Regulations Implementing the CDSOA

It is noted that CBP published Treasury Decision (T.D.) 01–68 (Distribution of Continued Dumping and Subsidy Offset to Affected Domestic Producers) in the Federal Register (66 FR 48546) on September 21, 2001, which was effective as of that date, in order to implement the CDSOA. The final rule added a new subpart F to part 159 of title 19, Code of Federal Regulations (19 CFR part 159, subpart F (sections 159.61–159.64)). More specific guidance regarding the filing of certifications is provided in this notice in order to aid affected domestic producers and other domestic producers alleging eligibility (“claimants” or “domestic producers”).

Notice of Intent To Distribute Offset

This document announces that CBP intends to distribute to affected domestic producers the assessed antidumping or countervailing duties, section 1677g interest, and interest provided for in 19 U.S.C. 4401 that are available for distribution in Fiscal Year 2022 in connection with those antidumping duty orders or findings or countervailing duty orders that are listed in this document. All distributions will be issued by paper check to the address provided by the claimants. Section 159.62(a) of title 19, Code of Federal Regulations (19 CFR 159.62(a)), provides that CBP will publish such a notice of intention to distribute at least 90 calendar days before the end of a fiscal year. Failure to publish the notice at least 90 calendar days before the end of the fiscal year will not affect an affected domestic producer's obligation to file a timely certification within 60 days after the notice is published. See Dixon Ticonderoga v. United States, 468 F.3d 1353, 1354 (Fed. Cir. 2006).

Certifications; Submission and Content

To obtain a distribution of the offset under a given order or finding (including any distribution under 19 U.S.C. 4401), an affected domestic producer (and anyone alleging eligibility to receive a distribution) must submit a certification for each order or finding under which a distribution is sought, to CBP, indicating its desire to receive a distribution. To be eligible to obtain a distribution, certifications must be received by CBP no later than 60 calendar days after the date of publication of this notice of intent to distribute in the Federal Register. Claimants are encouraged to submit certifications electronically at <https://www.pay.gov> under the Public Form Name, "Continued Dumping and Subsidy Offset Act of 2000 Certification" (CBP Form Number 7401) to ensure CBP's timely receipt and to avoid any potential delivery delays associated with mail or courier service. All certifications not received by the 60th day will not be eligible to receive a distribution.

As required by 19 CFR 159.62(b), this notice provides the case name and number of the order or finding concerned, as well as the specific instructions for filing a certification under section 159.63 to claim a distribution. Section 159.62(b) also provides that the dollar amounts subject to distribution that are contained in the Special Account for each listed order or finding are to appear in this notice. However, these dollar amounts were not available in time for inclusion in this publication. The preliminary amounts will be posted on the CBP website (<https://www.cbp.gov>). However, the final amounts available for disbursement may be higher or lower than the preliminary amounts.

CBP will provide general information to claimants regarding the preparation of certification(s). However, it remains the sole responsibility of the domestic producer to ensure that the certification is correct, complete, and accurate so as to demonstrate the eligibility of the domestic producer for the distribution requested. Failure to ensure that the certification is correct, complete, and accurate as provided in this notice will result in the domestic producer not receiving a distribution and/or a demand for the return of funds.

Specifically, to obtain a distribution of the offset under a given order or finding (including any distribution under 19 U.S.C. 4401), each potential claimant must timely submit a certification containing the required information detailed below as to the eligibility of the domestic producer (or anyone alleging eligibility) to receive the requested distribution and the total amount of the distribution that the domestic producer is claiming. Certifications should be submitted electronically at <https://www.pay.gov> utilizing Public Form Name, "Continued Dumping and Subsidy Offset Act of 2000 Certification" (CBP Form Number 7401) or by mail to U.S. Customs and Border Protection, Revenue Division, Attention: CDSOA Team, 6650 Telecom Drive, Suite 100, Indianapolis, IN 46278. The certification must enumerate the qualifying expenditures incurred by the domestic producer since the issuance of an order or finding and it must demonstrate that the domestic producer is eligible to receive a distribution as an affected domestic producer or allege another basis for eligibility. Any false statements made in connection with certifications submitted to CBP may give rise to liability under the False Claims Act (see 31 U.S.C. 3729–3733) and/or to criminal prosecution.

A successor to a company that was an affected domestic producer at the time of acquisition should consult 19 CFR 159.61(b)(1)(i). Any company that files a certification claiming to be the successor company to an affected domestic producer will be deemed to have consented to joint and several liability for the return of any overpayments arising under 19 CFR 159.64(b)(3) that were previously paid to the predecessor. CBP may require the successor company to provide documents to support its eligibility to receive a distribution as set out in 19 CFR 159.63(d). Additionally, any individual or company who purchases any portion of the operating assets of an affected domestic producer, a successor to an affected domestic producer, or an entity that otherwise previously received distributions may be jointly and severally liable for the return of any overpayments arising under 19 CFR 159.64(b)(3) that were previously paid to the entity from which the operating assets were purchased or its predecessor, regardless of whether the purchasing individual or company is deemed a successor company for purposes of receiving distributions.

A member company (or its successor) of an association that appears on the list of affected domestic producers in this notice, where the member company itself does not appear on this list, should consult 19 CFR 159.61(b)(1)(ii). Specifically, for a certification under 19 CFR 159.61(b)(1)(ii), the claimant must name the association of which it is a member, specifically establish that it was a member of the association at the time the association filed the petition with the USITC, and establish that the claimant is a current member of the association.

In order to promote accurate filings and more efficiently process the distributions, we offer the following guidance:

- If claimants are members of an association but the association does not file on their behalf, the association will need to provide its members with a statement that contains notarized company-specific information including dates of membership and an original signature from an authorized representative of the association.
- An association filing a certification on behalf of a member must also provide a power of attorney or other evidence of legal authorization from each of the domestic producers it is representing.
- Any association filing a certification on behalf of a member is responsible for verifying the legal sufficiency and accuracy of the member's financial records, which support the claim, and is responsible for that certification. As such, an association filing a certification on behalf of a member is jointly and severally liable with the member for repayment of any claim found to have been paid or overpaid in error.

The association may file a certification in its own right to claim an offset for that order or finding, but its qualifying expenditures would be limited to those expenditures that the association itself has incurred after the date of the order or finding in connection with the particular case.

As provided in 19 CFR 159.63(a), certifications to obtain a distribution of an offset (including any distribution under 19 U.S.C. 4401) must be received by CBP no later than 60 calendar days after the date of publication of the notice of intent in the Federal Register. All certifications received after the 60-day deadline will be summarily denied, making claimants ineligible for the distribution regardless of whether or not they appeared on the USITC list.

A list of all certifications received will be published on the CBP website (<https://www.cbp.gov>) shortly after the receipt deadline. This publication will not confirm acceptance or validity of the certification, but merely receipt of the certification. Due to the high volume of certifications, CBP is unable to respond to individual telephone or written inquiries regarding the status of a certification appearing on the list.

While there is no required format for a certification, CBP has developed a standard certification form to aid claimants in filing certifications. The certification form is available at <https://www.pay.gov> under the Public Form Name “Continued Dumping and Subsidy Offset Act of 2000 Certification” (CBP Form Number 7401) or by directing a web browser to <https://www.pay.gov/public/form/start/8776895/>. The certification form can be submitted electronically through <https://www.pay.gov> or by mail. All certifications not submitted electronically must include original signatures.

Regardless of the format for a certification, per 19 CFR 159.63(b), the certification must contain the following information:

- (1) The date of this Federal Register notice;
- (2) The Department of Commerce antidumping or countervailing duty case number (for example, A-331-802);
- (3) The case name (product/country);
- (4) The name of the domestic producer and any name qualifier, if applicable (for example, any other name under which the domestic producer does business or is also known);
- (5) The mailing address of the domestic producer (if a post office box, the physical street address must also appear) including, if applicable, a specific room number or department;
- (6) The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) number (with suffix) of the domestic producer, employer identification number, or social security number, as applicable;
- (7) The specific business organization of the domestic producer (corporation, partnership, sole proprietorship);
- (8) The name(s) of any individual(s) designated by the domestic producer as the contact person(s) concerning the certification, together with the phone number(s), mailing address, and, if available, facsimile transmission number(s) and electronic mail (email) address(es) for the person(s). Correspondence from CBP may be directed to the designated contact(s) by either mail or phone or both;
- (9) The total dollar amount claimed;
- (10) The dollar amount claimed by category, as described in the section below entitled “Amount Claimed for Distribution”;

(11) A statement of eligibility, as described in the section below entitled “Eligibility to Receive Distribution”; and

(12) For certifications not submitted electronically through <https://www.pay.gov>, an original signature by an individual legally authorized to bind the producer.

Qualifying Expenditures That May Be Claimed for Distribution

Qualifying expenditures that may be offset under the CDSOA encompass those expenditures incurred by the domestic producer after issuance of an antidumping duty order or finding or a countervailing duty order (including expenditures incurred on the date of the order’s issuance), and prior to its termination, provided that such expenditures fall within certain categories. See 19 CFR 159.61(c). The CDSOA repeal language parallels the termination of an order or finding. Therefore, for duty orders or findings that have not been previously revoked, expenses must be incurred before October 1, 2007, to be eligible for offset. For duty orders or findings that have been revoked, expenses must be incurred before the effective date of the revocation to be eligible for offset. For example, assume for case A–331–802 Certain Frozen Warm-Water Shrimp and Prawns from Ecuador, that the order date is February 1, 2005, and that the revocation effective date is August 15, 2007. In this case, eligible expenditures would have to be incurred on or after February 1, 2005, up to and including August 14, 2007; expenditures incurred on or after August 15, 2007 cannot be included as eligible qualifying expenditures for A–331–802.

For the convenience and ease of the domestic producers, CBP is providing guidance on what the agency takes into consideration when making a calculation for each of the following categories:

(1) Manufacturing facilities (Any facility used for the transformation of raw material into a finished product that is the subject of the related order or finding);

(2) Equipment (Goods that are used in a business environment to aid in the manufacturing of a product that is the subject of the related order or finding);

(3) Research and development (Seeking knowledge and determining the best techniques for production of the product that is the subject of the related order or finding);

(4) Personnel training (Teaching of specific useful skills to personnel, that will improve performance in the production process of the product that is the subject of the related order or finding);

(5) Acquisition of technology (Acquisition of applied scientific knowledge and materials to achieve an objective in the production process of the product that is the subject of the related order or finding);

(6) Health care benefits for employees paid for by the employer (Health care benefits paid to employees who are producing the specific product that is the subject of the related order or finding);

(7) Pension benefits for employees paid for by the employer (Pension benefits paid to employees who are producing the specific product that is the subject of the related order or finding);

(8) Environmental equipment, training, or technology (Equipment, training, or technology used in the production of the product that is the subject of the related order or finding, that will assist in preventing potentially harmful factors from affecting the environment);

(9) Acquisition of raw materials and other inputs (Purchase of unprocessed materials or other inputs needed for the production of the product that is the subject of the related order or finding); and

(10) Working capital or other funds needed to maintain production (Assets of a business that can be applied to its production of the product that is the subject of the related order or finding).

Amount Claimed for Distribution

In calculating the amount of the distribution being claimed as an offset, the certification must indicate:

(1) The total amount of any qualifying expenditures previously certified by the domestic producer, and the amount certified by category;

(2) The total amount of those expenditures which have been the subject of any prior distribution for the order or finding being certified under 19 U.S.C. 1675c; and

(3) The net amount for new and remaining qualifying expenditures being claimed in the current certification (the total amount previously certified as noted in item “(1)” above minus the total amount that was the subject of any prior distribution as noted in item “(2)” above). In accordance with 19 CFR 159.63(b)(2)(i)–(iii), CBP will deduct the amount of any prior distribution from the producer’s claimed amount for that case. Total amounts disbursed by CBP under the CDSOA for some prior Fiscal Years are available on the CBP website.

Additionally, under 19 CFR 159.61(c), these qualifying expenditures must be related to the production of the same product that is the subject of the order or finding, with the exception of expenses incurred by associations which must be related to a specific case. Any false statements made to CBP concerning the amount of distribution being claimed as an offset may give rise to liability under the False Claims Act (see 31 U.S.C. 3729–3733) and/or to criminal prosecution.

Eligibility To Receive Distribution

As noted, the certification must contain a statement that the domestic producer desires to receive a distribution and is eligible to receive the distribution as an affected domestic producer or on another legal basis. Also, the domestic producer must affirm that the net amount certified for distribution does not encompass any qualifying expenditures for which distribution has previously been made (19 CFR 159.63(b)(3)(i)). Any false statements made in connection with certifications submitted to CBP may give rise to liability under the False Claims Act (see 31 U.S.C. 3729–3733) and/or to criminal prosecution.

Furthermore, under 19 CFR 159.63(b)(3)(ii), where a domestic producer files a separate certification for more than one order or finding using the same qualifying expenditures as the basis for distribution in each case, each certification must list all the other orders or findings where the producer is claiming the same qualifying expenditures.

Moreover, as required by 19 U.S.C. 1675c(b)(1) and 19 CFR 159.63(b)(3)(iii), the certification must include information as to whether the domestic producer remains in operation at the time the certifications are filed and continues to produce the product covered by the particular order or finding under which the distribution is sought. If a domestic producer is no longer in operation, or no longer produces the product covered by the order or finding, the producer will not be considered an affected domestic producer entitled to receive a distribution.

In addition, as required by 19 U.S.C. 1675c(b)(5) and 19 CFR 159.63(b)(3)(iii), the domestic producer must state whether it has been acquired by a company that opposed the investigation or was acquired by a business related to a company that opposed the investigation. If a domestic producer has been so acquired, the producer will not be considered an affected domestic producer entitled to receive a distribution. However, CBP may not make a final decision regarding a claimant's eligibility to receive funds until certain legal issues which may affect that claimant's eligibility are resolved. In these instances, CBP may withhold an amount of funds corresponding to the claimant's alleged pro rata share of funds from distribution pending the resolution of those legal issues.

The certification must be executed and dated by a party legally authorized to bind the domestic producer and it must state that the information contained in the certification is true and accurate to the best of the certifier's knowledge and belief under penalty of law, and that the domestic producer has records to support the qualifying expenditures being claimed (see section below entitled "Verification of Certification"). Moreover, as provided in 19 CFR 159.64(b)(3), all overpayments to affected domestic producers are recoverable by CBP, and CBP reserves the right to use all available collection tools to recover overpayments, including but not limited to garnishments, court orders, administrative offset, enrollment in the Treasury Offset Program, and/or offset of tax refund payments. Overpayments may occur for a variety of reasons, including but not limited to: Reliquidations, court actions, settlements, insufficient verification of a certification in response to an inquiry from CBP, and administrative errors. With diminished amounts available over time, the likelihood that these events will require the recovery of funds previously distributed will increase. As a result, domestic producers who receive distributions under the CDSOA may wish to set aside any funds received in case it is subsequently determined that an overpayment has occurred. CBP considers the submission of a certification and the negotiation of any distribution checks received as acknowledgements and acceptance of the claimant's obligation to return those funds upon demand.

Review and Correction of Certification

A certification that is submitted in response to this notice of intent to distribute and received within 60 calendar days after the date of publication of the notice in the Federal Register may, at CBP's sole discretion, be subject to review before acceptance to ensure that all informational requirements are complied with and that any amounts set forth in the certification for qualifying expenditures, including the amount claimed for distribution, appear to be correct. A certification that is found to be materially incorrect or incomplete will be returned to the domestic producer within 15 business days after the close of the 60 calendar-day filing period, as provided in 19 CFR 159.63(c). In making this determination, CBP will not speculate as to the reason for the error (e.g., intentional, typographical, etc.). CBP must receive a corrected certification from the domestic producer and/or an association filing on behalf of an association member within 10 business days from the date of the original denial letter. Failure to receive a corrected certification within 10 business days will result in denial of the certification at issue. It is the sole responsibility of the domestic producer to ensure that the certification is correct, complete, and accurate so as to demonstrate the eligibility of the domestic producer to the distribution requested. Failure to ensure that the certification is correct, complete, and accurate will result in the domestic producer not receiving a distribution and/or a demand for the return of funds.

Verification of Certification

Certifications are subject to CBP's verification. The burden remains on each claimant to fully substantiate all elements of its certification. As such, claimants may be required to provide copies of additional records for further review by CBP. Therefore, parties are required to maintain, and be prepared to produce, records adequately supporting their claims for a period of five years after the filing of the certification (19 CFR 159.63(d)). The records must demonstrate that each qualifying expenditure enumerated in the certification was actually incurred, and they must support how the qualifying expenditures are determined to be related to the production of the product covered by the order or finding. Although CBP will accept comments and information from the public and other domestic producers, CBP retains complete discretion regarding the initiation and conduct of investigations stemming from such information. In the event that a distribution is made to a domestic producer from whom CBP later seeks verification of the certification and sufficient supporting documentation is not provided as determined by CBP, then the amounts paid to the affected domestic producer are recoverable by CBP as an overpayment. CBP reserves the right to use all available collection tools to recover overpayments, including but not limited to garnishments, court orders, administrative offset, enrollment in the Treasury Offset Program, and/or offset of tax refund payments. CBP considers the submission of a certification and the negotiation of any distribution checks received as acknowledgements and acceptance of the claimant's obligation to return those funds upon demand. Additionally, the submission of false statements, documents, or records in connection with a certification or verification of a certification may give rise to liability under the False Claims Act (see 31 U.S.C. 3729–3733) and/or to criminal prosecution.

Disclosure of Information in Certifications; Acceptance by Producer

The name of the claimant, the total dollar amount claimed by the party on the certification, as well as the total dollar amount that CBP actually disburses to that affected domestic producer as an offset, will be available for disclosure to the public, as specified in 19 CFR 159.63(e). To this extent, the submission of the certification is construed as an understanding and acceptance on the part of the domestic producer that this information will be disclosed to the public and a waiver of any right to privacy or non-disclosure. Additionally, a statement in a certification that this information is proprietary and exempt from disclosure may result in CBP's rejection of the certification.

List of Orders or Findings and Related Domestic Producers

The list of individual antidumping duty orders or findings and countervailing duty orders is set forth below together with the affected domestic producers associated with each order or finding who are potentially eligible to receive an offset. Those domestic producers not on the list must allege another basis for eligibility in their certification. Appearance of a domestic producer on the list is not a guarantee of distribution.

OPINION AND ORDER

Eaton, Judge:

This case involves the U.S. Department of Commerce’s (“Commerce” or the “Department”) final affirmative countervailing duty determination in its investigation of carbon and alloy steel threaded rod from the People’s Republic of China (“China”). See Carbon and Alloy Steel Threaded Rod From the People’s Republic of China, 85 Fed. Reg. 8,833 (Dep’t Commerce Feb. 18, 2020) (“Final Determination”) and accompanying Issues and Decision Mem. (Feb. 7, 2020) (“Final IDM”), PR 343; see also Carbon and Alloy Steel Threaded Rod From the People’s Republic of China, 84 Fed. Reg. 36,578 (Dep’t Commerce July 29, 2019) (“Preliminary Determination”) and accompanying Prelim. Decision Mem. (July 22, 2019) (“PDM”), PR 220.

Before the court are the motions for judgment on the agency record of Plaintiff Zhejiang Junyue Standard Part Co., Ltd. (“Junyue”) and Plaintiff-Intervenor Ningbo Zhongjiang High Strength Bolts Co., Ltd. (“Zhongjiang Bolts”).¹ See Junyue’s Mem. Supp. Mot. J. Agency R., ECF No. 27–2 (“Pl.’s Br.”); Junyue’s Reply Br., ECF No. 33. Junyue and Zhongjiang Bolts (collectively, “Plaintiffs”) are producers of subject merchandise that were individually investigated as mandatory respondents.

By their motions, Plaintiffs primarily challenge Commerce’s use of adverse facts available to find that they each received a benefit under the Export Buyer’s Credit Program—a government loan program in China. In particular, Plaintiffs question (1) whether substantial evidence supports Commerce’s finding that the use of “facts otherwise available,” under § 1677e(a), was required because “necessary” information about the operation of the Export Buyer’s Credit Program was missing from the record; and if the use of facts available was justified, (2) whether substantial evidence supports Commerce’s finding that Plaintiffs received a benefit under the program, where that finding was in direct conflict with declarations placed on the record by Plaintiffs, and (3) whether substantial evidence supports Commerce’s application of an adverse inference, under § 1677e(b), when selecting from among the facts available because of China’s failure to provide requested information about the program. See Pl.’s Br. at 6–16. Junyue also challenges Commerce’s finding that its cross-owned affiliates—Affiliates A and B²—also benefitted from the Export Buyer’s Credit Program, and its decision to triple the subsidy rate selected for the program, when calculating Junyue’s countervailing duty rate, to account for the benefit received by (1) Junyue, (2) Affiliate A, and (3) Affiliate B. Accordingly, Plaintiffs ask the court to “declare that the Export Buyer’s Credit Program must be excluded from [the Respondents’ respective countervailing duty] rate calculation[s].” See Pl.’s Br. at 22.

The United States (“Defendant”) and Defendant-Intervenor and petitioner Vulcan Threaded Products, Inc. argue that Commerce’s use of adverse facts available is supported by substantial evidence and is otherwise in accordance with law, and urge the court to sustain the Final Determination. See Def.’s Resp. Pls.’ Mots. J. Agency R., ECF No. 31 (“Def.’s Br.”); see also Def.-Int.’s Opp’n Pls.’ Mots. J. Agency R., ECF No. 30 (“Def.-Int.’s Br.”).

¹ Zhongjiang Bolts incorporated by reference Junyue’s arguments in its opening and reply briefs. See Zhongjiang Bolts’ Mem. Supp. Mot. J. Admin. R., ECF No. 26; Zhongjiang Bolts’ Reply Br., ECF No. 32.

² The identities of Affiliates A and B are proprietary information.

The court finds that substantial evidence does not support Commerce's use of adverse facts available to find that Plaintiffs benefitted from the Export Buyer's Credit Program. Additionally, the court finds that Commerce's decision to triple the subsidy rate selected for the program when calculating Junyue's rate to account for a benefit that the Department claims was received by Junyue's Affiliates A and B has not been explained adequately.

Thus, Commerce's inclusion of an adverse facts available rate for the program when calculating countervailing duty rates for Junyue and Zhongjiang Bolts cannot be sustained. The court thus remands Commerce's calculation of Junyue's and Zhongjiang Bolts' individual countervailing duty rates to either (1) find a practical solution to verify the non-use information on the record, such as the reopening of the record to issue supplemental questionnaires to respondents and their U.S. customers (see infra note 10); or (2) recalculate the countervailing duty rates for Junyue and Zhongjiang Bolts to exclude the subsidy rate for the Export Buyer's Credit Program. On remand, should Commerce continue to attempt to justify its benefit determination as supported by substantial evidence and otherwise in accordance with law, it shall explain the tripling effect with specific citation to applicable statutes and substantial record evidence.

BACKGROUND

The Export Buyer's Credit Program is a state-subsidized loan program, administered by China's state-owned Export Import Bank. See Clearon Corp. v. United States, 44 CIT __, __, 474 F. Supp. 3d 1339, 1341 n.5 (2020). Under the program, the Chinese government provides credit at preferential rates to foreign purchasers of goods exported by Chinese companies. See id. at __, 474 F. Supp. 3d at 1341 n.5; see also Final IDM at 37.

As with other cases involving the Export Buyer's Credit Program that have come before this Court, the record in this case shows that Commerce sent initial and supplemental questionnaires to China, asking for information that, for Commerce, would allow it to fully understand the operation of the program. Commerce asked for copies of revisions that the Export Import Bank made in 2013 to its internal guidelines for administering the program, and the identities of third-party banks involved in the disbursement of buyer's credits.³ See ³ Through questionnaires, Commerce asked for "translated copies of the laws and regulations pertaining to the [Export Buyer's Credit Program], a description of the agencies and types of records maintained for administration of the program, a description of the program and the program application process, program eligibility criteria, and program use data." Final IDM at 32.

Final IDM at 32; see also Clearon, 44 CIT at ___, 474 F. Supp. 3d at 1350–51 & nn.10–12 (collecting cases).

As in prior cases, here China provided some, but not all, of the information that Commerce requested. Specifically, China failed to provide “the 2013 Revisions [to the Export Buyer’s Credit Program], a list of all third-party banks involved in the disbursement/settlement of export buyer’s credits, and a list of all partner/correspondent banks involved in disbursement of funds under” the program. Final IDM at 32. Instead of providing the requested information, China responded that Commerce’s requests for information were “not applicable” and “unnecessary.” In place of the information requested, China provided, among other things, screenshots of the results of searches of the China Export Import Bank’s databases that purported to show that there was no record of any Export Buyer’s Credit Program loans being disbursed to Junyue’s or Zhongjiang Bolts’ U.S. customers during the period of investigation. See Final IDM at 31–34.

For their part, Junyue and Zhongjiang Bolts stated in their questionnaire responses that neither company had benefitted from the program during the period of investigation. In addition, they placed on the record declarations from their U.S. customers stating that they had not used export buyer’s credits during the period of investigation.⁴ See Final IDM at 33–34.

Commerce conducted verification in China, but it did not attempt to verify evidence of usage of the Export Buyer’s Credit Program provided by the Chinese government. According to Commerce, it “no longer attempts to verify usage of the [Export Buyer’s Credit] program with [China] given the inadequate information provided in its questionnaire responses, in particular, [China’s] refusal to provide the 2013 revisions to the administrative rules.” See Final IDM at 33 n.236; see also 19 U.S.C. § 1677m(i)(1) (2018) (Commerce “shall verify all information relied upon in making . . . a final determination in an investigation.”).

Nor did Commerce verify, or attempt to verify, Junyue’s and Zhongjiang Bolts’ claims their U.S. customers did not use the Export

Buyer's Credit Program. See, e.g., Junyue Verification Rep. (Dec. 2, 2019), PR 330; Zhongjiang Bolts Verification Rep. (Dec. 2, 2019), PR 329.

The Department's decision not to attempt verification of Plaintiffs' claims of non-use of the Export Buyer's Credit Program at Junyue's and Zhongjiang Bolts' offices in China, or those of their U.S. customers, rested on Commerce's finding that the operational information that China failed to provide—i.e., the 2013 revisions to the program and the identities of third-party banks—was “necessary.” Final IDM at 34. For Commerce, its “typical non-use verification procedure” could not be employed to verify the claims of non-use without this “necessary” operational information.⁵

Commerce deemed the program's operational information “necessary” based on the difficulty that the information's absence might have posed if Commerce had attempted to use its typical non-use verification procedure. The information's necessity apparently had little to do with its relevance to the Department's statutory “benefit” analysis:

Without such necessary information, Commerce would have to engage in an unreasonably onerous examination of the business activities and records of respondents' customers without any guidance as to which loans or banks to subject to scrutiny for each company. [China] refused to provide a list of all correspondent banks involved in the disbursement of credits and funds under the program. A careful verification of respondents' non-use of this program without understanding the identity of these correspondent banks would be unreasonably onerous, if not im-

⁵ In the Final IDM, Commerce identified the steps to verify “whether and to what extent a respondent exporter had received loans from a state-owned bank”:

If Commerce were attempting to confirm whether and to what extent a respondent exporter had received loans from a state-owned bank, . . . its first step would be to examine the company's balance sheets to derive the exact amount of lending outstanding during the period of examination. Second, once that figure was confirmed, Commerce would examine subledgers or bank statements containing the details of all individual loans. Because Commerce could tie or trace the subledgers or bank statements to the total amount of outstanding lending derived from the balance sheets, it could be assured that the subledgers were complete and that it therefore had the entire universe of loan information available for further scrutiny. After examining the subledgers for references to the state-owned banks (for example, “Account 201–02: Short-term lending, Industrial and Commercial Bank of China”), Commerce's third step would be to select specific entries from the subledger and request to see underlying documentation, such as applications and loan agreements, in order to confirm the accuracy of the subledger details. Thus, confirmation that a complete picture of relevant information is in front of the verification team, by tying relevant books and records to audited financial statements or tax returns, is critical.

Final IDM at 28–29, 34–35 (describing steps two and three of the typical non-use verification procedure).

possible. Because Commerce does not know the identities of these banks, Commerce's second step of its typical non-use verification procedures (i.e., examining the company's subledgers for references to the party making the financial contribution) could not by itself demonstrate that the U.S. customers did not use the program (no correspondent banks in the subledger). Nor could the second step be used to narrow down the company's lending to a subset of loans likely to be the export buyer's credits (i.e., loans from the correspondent banks).⁶

Thus, verifying non-use of the program without knowledge of the correspondent banks would require Commerce to view the underlying documentation for all entries from the subledger to attempt to confirm the origin of each loan - i.e., whether the loan was provided from the China Ex-Im Bank via an intermediary bank. This would be an unreasonably onerous undertaking for any company that received more than a small number of loans.

Final IDM at 34. In other words, Commerce concluded that without the missing operational information the application of Commerce's typical non-use verification procedure might have been "unreasonably onerous," depending on what it might have found at verification, had it attempted to employ its typical procedure. That is, if it turned out that the respondent's U.S. customers had more than a "small number of loans" during the period of investigation, the second step of its typical procedure would have been burdensome to apply.

Thus, Commerce found that without the "necessary" operational information the Department could not "accurately and effectively" verify Plaintiffs' claims of non-use. See Final IDM at 35 ("Commerce finds it could not accurately and effectively verify usage at respondents' customers, even were it to have attempted the unreasonably onerous examination of each of their customers' loans.").

Although Commerce stated that it could not verify the information provided by respondents (i.e., the declarations of non-use), Commerce determined that the missing operational information created a gap in the factual record. See Final IDM at 37–38 (describing as a "critical gap in the record . . . in this investigation" the missing information concerning the operation of the Export Buyer's Credit Program).

Commerce thus determined that the use of facts available was required, under 19 U.S.C. § 1677e(a):

As explained in the Preliminary Determination, necessary information from [China] is missing from the record, and [China] withheld the requested information described above, which is necessary to determine whether respondents' U.S. customers actually used the [Export Buyer's Credit] Program during the [period of investigation]. [China's] withholding of this necessary information prevents us from fully understanding and analyzing the operation of this program, thereby impeding this proceeding. Accordingly, we find that we must rely on the facts otherwise available, pursuant to sections 776(a)(1), (a)(2)(A), and (a)(2)(C) of the Act, to determine whether this program was used by Junyue and Zhongjiang Bolts and conferred a benefit.

Final IDM at 36 (footnote omitted).⁷

It is worth noting that, although Commerce, in the quoted language above, stated that it “must rely on the facts otherwise available . . . to determine whether this program was used by Junyue and Zhongjiang Bolts and conferred a benefit,” the Department ultimately failed to identify which record facts it relied upon to fill the gaps with respect to each respondent's use of and benefit from the program. That is, Commerce did not identify how it filled the gap created by the missing operational information. Indeed, Commerce declined to rely on the only facts that were available on the record that pertained to use and benefit, i.e., the respondents' questionnaire responses, and their respective U.S. customers' declarations of non-use.

Additionally, Commerce further found that the use of an adverse inference, when selecting from among the facts available, was warranted under § 1677e(b), because China failed to cooperate to the best of its ability with Commerce's requests for information. See Final IDM at 36 (“[China's] refusal to provide the 2013 Revisions, which set internal guidelines for how this program is administered by the China Ex-Im Bank, and a list of partner/correspondent banks that are used to disburse funds through this program, constitutes a failure to cooperate to the best of [China's] ability.”).

Based on its facts available and adverse inferences findings, Commerce stated: “Therefore, as [adverse facts available], we find that respondents Junyue and Zhongjiang Bolts used and benefited from [the Export Buyer's Credit Program] program, despite their claims that their U.S. customers had not obtained export buyer's credits from the China Ex-Im Bank during the [period of investigation]." See Final IDM at 36–37.

Apart from the adverse facts available finding that Commerce made based on China's failure to provide requested information, Commerce made a separate, limited adverse facts available finding in the Final Determination based on Junyue's failure to report certain information that was necessary to Commerce's analysis of cross-ownership of affiliates—i.e., whether Affiliates A and B provided inputs to the subject merchandise during the period of investigation. Commerce found that this information was available to Junyue, but that it had failed to do its best to provide it to Commerce, justifying the application of an adverse inference. See Final IDM at 46 (finding "that Junyue was inattentive in not fully responding to our inquiry regarding whether Affiliates A and B were input providers in our questionnaires, despite the fact that we gave them ample opportunity to provide this information."). As adverse facts available with respect to the missing information, Commerce found that Affiliates A and B were cross-owned. Plaintiffs do not dispute Commerce's finding on cross-ownership. See Pls.' Br. at 18 ("As [adverse facts available], Commerce found that Junyue and Affiliates A and B are cross-owned. Junyue does not challenge . . . Commerce's determination to find Affiliates A and B are cross-owned affiliates of Junyue here.").

Commerce calculated each respondent's final countervailing duty rate by adding together the subsidy rates for the programs by which each company was found to have benefitted. The Department selected a 10.54 percent⁸ subsidy rate for the Export Buyer's Credit Program pursuant to 19 U.S.C. § 1677e(d), finding that it was the highest rate determined for a similar program in a separate proceeding that involved the same country. See PDM at 15.

With respect to Junyue, Commerce tripled that 10.54 percent rate based on its finding that Junyue and Affiliates A and B were cross-owned entities:

Commerce finds that Affiliates A and B also benefitted from all of the same programs Junyue benefitted from and that the subsidies they received that are attributable to Junyue are in the same subsidy rates as we calculate for Junyue. Although Junyue reported that the affiliates do not produce subject merchandise, there is no record evidence that indicates that Affiliates A and B could not have benefitted from the same programs that Junyue benefitted from.

Final IDM at 47. Plaintiffs dispute Commerce’s “tripling” of the rate as arbitrary and capricious because, as Commerce acknowledged, the record shows that neither Affiliate A nor Affiliate B produced subject merchandise, but rather performed services for Junyue. See Pl.’s Br. 19 (“[T]here were no imports of subject merchandise into the United States from either of the two allegedly cross-owned affiliates.”); and 3 (“Commerce’s verifier found that Affiliates A and B performed certain services for Junyue during the Period of Investigation.”). Therefore, Plaintiffs maintain, Commerce’s decision to triple Junyue’s rate lacks the support of substantial evidence.

Ultimately, Junyue received a total countervailing duty rate of 66.81 percent. Zhongjiang Bolts received a 31.02 percent rate. See Final Determination, 85 Fed. Reg. at 8,834.

JURISDICTION AND STANDARD OF REVIEW

Jurisdiction lies pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1581(c) (2018) and 19 U.S.C. § 1516a(a)(2)(B)(iii). The court will sustain a determination by Commerce unless it is “unsupported by substantial evidence on the record, or otherwise not in accordance with law.” 19 U.S.C. § 1516a(b)(1)(B)(i).

LEGAL FRAMEWORK

Under the countervailing duty statute, if Commerce determines that a foreign government or public entity “is providing, directly or indirectly, a countervailable subsidy with respect to the manufacture, production, or export of a class or kind of merchandise imported, or sold (or likely to be sold) for importation, into the United States,” a duty will be imposed in an amount equal to the net countervailable subsidy. 19 U.S.C. § 1671(a); see also Delverde, SrL v. United States, 202 F.3d 1360, 1365 (Fed. Cir. 2000) (“The Tariff Act provides that before Commerce imposes a countervailing duty on merchandise imported into the United States, it must determine that a government is providing, directly or indirectly, a countervailable subsidy with respect to the manufacture, production, or export of that merchandise.” (citation omitted)). This “remedial measure . . . provides relief to domestic manufacturers by imposing duties upon imports of comparable foreign products that have the benefit of a subsidy from the foreign government.” Fine Furniture (Shanghai) Ltd. v. United States, 748 F.3d 1365, 1368 (Fed. Cir. 2014) (citation omitted). The statute applies equally when the imported merchandise is from a nonmarket economy country. See 19 U.S.C. § 1671(f)(1); see also TMK IPSCO v. United States, 41 CIT __, __, 222 F. Supp. 3d 1306, 1313 (2017) (“Commerce generally must impose countervailing duties on merchandise from a non-market economy . . . country if Commerce makes the findings necessary to countervail a subsidy more generally under the statute.” (citation omitted)).

A subsidy is countervailable when (1) a foreign government provides a financial contribution (2) to a specific industry and (3) a recipient within the industry receives a benefit as a result of that contribution. See 19 U.S.C. § 1677(5)(B). The statute expands upon each of these three factors. First, “financial contribution” means, in pertinent part, “the direct transfer of funds, such as . . . loans.” Id. § 1677(5)(D)(i). Second, to be actionable a subsidy must be specific, as defined. Id. § 1677(5A)(A)-(B) (“A subsidy is specific if it is an export subsidy,” i.e., “a subsidy that is, in law or in fact, contingent upon export performance, alone or as 1 of 2 or more conditions.”). Third, in the case of government loans, a “benefit” is conferred “if there is a difference between the amount the recipient of the loan pays on the loan and the amount the recipient would pay on a comparable commercial loan that the recipient could actually obtain on the market.” Id. § 1677(5)(E)(ii); 19 C.F.R. § 351.505(a) (2019) (same).

To analyze these three factors, “Commerce often requires information from the foreign government allegedly providing the subsidy.” Fine Furniture, 748 F.3d at 1369–70 (citing Essar Steel Ltd. v. United States, 34 CIT 1057, 1070, 721 F. Supp. 2d 1285, 1296–97 (2010), rev’d on other grounds, 678 F.3d 1268 (Fed. Cir. 2012)). This is because “normally, [foreign] governments ‘are in the best position to provide information regarding the administration of their alleged subsidy programs, including eligible recipients.’” Id. at 1370 (quoting Essar Steel, 34 CIT at 1070, 721 F. Supp. 2d at 1297). “Additionally, Commerce sometimes requires information from a foreign government to determine whether a particular respondent received a benefit from an alleged subsidy.” Id.

Where the Department lacks the information it needs to make a countervailing duty determination, it must use “facts otherwise available.” 19 U.S.C. § 1677e(a). If Commerce determines that the use of facts otherwise available is warranted, and makes the additional finding that a party “has failed to cooperate by not acting to the best of its ability to comply with a request for information,” it may use an adverse inference “in selecting from among the facts otherwise available.” 19 U.S.C. § 1677e(b)(1); see also Nippon Steel Corp. v. United States, 337 F.3d 1373, 1381 (Fed. Cir. 2003) (discussing the two-step analysis that applies to the use of facts available and adverse inferences under 19 U.S.C. § 1677e). It bears repeating that if and only if the use of facts otherwise available is required under § 1677e(a) may Commerce go on to determine whether the use of an adverse inference when selecting from among the facts available is justified based on the non-cooperating party's failure to do its best, under § 1677e(b).

The additional finding that a party has “failed to cooperate by not acting to the best of its ability to comply with a request for information,” can only be made after Commerce performs two tasks. See 19 U.S.C. § 1677e(b)(1).

First, it must make an objective showing that a reasonable and responsible [respondent] would have known that the requested information was required to be kept and maintained under the applicable statutes, rules, and regulations. Second, Commerce must then make a subjective showing that the respondent under investigation not only has failed to promptly produce the requested information, but further that the failure to fully respond is the result of the respondent's lack of cooperation in either: (a) failing to keep and maintain all required records, or (b) failing to put forth its maximum efforts to investigate and obtain the requested information from its records.

Nippon Steel, 337 F.3d at 1382–83 (citation omitted). “It is worth noting that the subjective component of the ‘best of its ability’ standard judges what constitutes the maximum effort that a particular respondent is capable of doing, not some hypothetical, well-resourced respondent.” Nat’l Nail Corp. v. United States, 43 CIT __, __, 390 F. Supp. 3d 1356, 1373 (2019). Thus, “[a]n adverse inference may not be drawn merely from a failure to respond, but only under circumstances in which it is reasonable for Commerce to expect that more forthcoming responses should have been made; i.e., under circumstances in which it is reasonable to conclude that less than full cooperation has been shown.” Nippon Steel, 337 F.3d at 1383. The purpose of applying an adverse inference is to encourage future compliance by respondents. See Jilin Forest Indus. Jinqiao Flooring Grp. Co. v. United States, 45 CIT __, __, 519 F. Supp. 3d 1224, 1239–40 (2021) (discussing use of adverse facts available as an “inducement” for compliance).

A foreign government may be found to be a non-cooperating party. See Fine Furniture, 748 F.3d at 1371 (“[O]n its face, the statute authorizes Commerce to apply adverse inferences when an interested party, including a foreign government, fails to provide requested information.”). Under such circumstances, the application of adverse facts available “may adversely impact a cooperating party, although Commerce should seek to avoid such impact if relevant information exists elsewhere on the record.” Archer Daniels Midland Co. v. United States, 37 CIT 760, 769, 917 F. Supp. 2d 1331, 1342 (2013) (citation omitted) (emphasis added); see also Fine Furniture, 748 F.3d at 1372 (emphasis added) (upholding the application of adverse facts available where Commerce did “not apply adverse inferences to substitute for any information that was actually submitted by the cooperating respondents.”).

DISCUSSION

Plaintiffs claim that substantial evidence does not support Commerce’s use of facts available, pursuant to 19 U.S.C. § 1677e(a), based on a claimed “gap” in the factual record left by China’s failure to provide information about the operation of the Export Buyer’s Credit Program. As noted, Commerce found the information was “necessary” in order to employ its typical non-use verification procedure. For Plaintiffs, the record is complete on the issue of non-use: “[R]ecord evidence only establishes that Junyue or its customers did not use or benefit from the [Export Buyer’s Credit] program.” Pl.’s Br. at 9. Plaintiffs maintain that non-use declarations from their U.S. customers, and corroborating statements by the Chinese government, including the state-owned Export Import Bank, show that neither Plaintiffs nor their U.S. customers used or benefitted from the program. See Pl.’s Br. at 2–3. Thus, Plaintiffs argue, Commerce’s use of facts available to reach a contrary conclusion, without even attempting to verify the non-use evidence, cannot be sustained. In support of their arguments, Plaintiffs cite cases where this Court, presented with similar facts, has found that Commerce’s use of facts available lacked the support of substantial evidence. See Pl.’s Br. at 10.

In addition, Plaintiffs maintain that the record evidence of non-use can be verified using Commerce’s existing methods. See Pl.’s Br. at 16–18. As to Commerce’s claim that the missing operational information is necessary because without it verification of non-use would be unreasonably onerous, Plaintiffs maintain that Commerce’s existing methods for verifying non-use would have sufficed even if Junyue’s U.S. customers had a large number of lending transactions during the period of investigation:

[T]he sampling method is applied in every investigation (as well as at verification), and there is no reason why Commerce cannot do the same if Junyue’s customers have a large number of outstanding financings during the [period of investigation]. Commerce could have adopted such procedures during the year-long investigation to confirm that the U.S. customers did not take [Export Buyer’s Credit] loans. It is simply untenable for Commerce to insist on the non-use being unverifiable while making no attempts to verify at all during the lengthy investigation.

Pl.'s Br. at 17. Indeed, Plaintiffs point out that Commerce employed the sampling method at Junyue's verification of home market and export sales: "Commerce 'selected individual transactions' instead of examining the underlying documents for each sale to determine whether Junyue's reporting of domestic sales versus U.S. sales was accurate." Pl.'s Br. at 17 (citing Junyue Verification Rep. at 4).

Thus, for Plaintiffs, because there was information on the record regarding non-use, which pertained to the "benefit" element of the countervailing duty statute, and because the non-use information could be verified using the Department's sampling method, Commerce's finding that there was a "gap" in the record that required the use of facts otherwise available cannot be sustained. Plaintiffs ask the court to "declare that the Export Buyer's Credit Program must be excluded from [the Respondents' countervailing duty] rate calculation[s]." Pl.'s Br. at 22. Moreover, Plaintiffs maintain, if Commerce is directed to remove the 10.54 percent rate from the calculation of Junyue's individual countervailing duty rate, it should also remove the rate as applied to Junyue's Affiliates A and B. See Pl.'s Br. at 18.

For its part, Commerce continues to disagree with the position taken by Plaintiffs here, and with the rulings of this Court in similar prior cases: "Commerce disagrees with the outcome of these prior cases examining the Export Buyer's Credit program." Def.'s Br. at 14 (citing, e.g., Clearon, 44 CIT at __, 474 F. Supp. 3d at 1339). Instead, Commerce insists on the position it took during the investigation proceeding:

Commerce continues to find that the Chinese government's withholding of the requested information concerning the Export Buyer's Credit program created a gap of information. The gap of information created by the Chinese government's withholding of the requested information rendered Commerce unable to fully analyze the Export Buyer's Credit program. Plaintiffs do not point to any evidence on the record that fills the gap of information needed by Commerce to understand and analyze the Export Buyer's Credit program. Thus, plaintiffs' argument ignores the missing record evidence that Commerce required in order to analyze the Export Buyer's Credit program.

Def.'s Br. at 14 (citing Final IDM at 31–38). In other words, for Commerce, the non-use information on the record does not fill the gaps regarding how the program operates.⁹ Moreover, Commerce maintains that without this information, it could not “accurately and effectively” verify the non-use evidence using its typical non-use verification procedure. See Final IDM at 35 (“Commerce finds it could not accurately and effectively verify usage at respondents’ customers, even were it to have attempted the unreasonably onerous examination of each of their customers’ loans.”).

This Court has issued several opinions reviewing the legal and factual sufficiency of Commerce’s use of adverse facts available in cases where China has failed to provide requested information about the operation of the Export Buyer’s Credit Program. On similar factual records, the Court has rejected Commerce’s position that information about the operation of the Export Buyer’s Credit Program is necessary for it to verify a respondent’s claimed non-use of the program. See, e.g., Clearon, 44 CIT at __, 474 F. Supp. 3d at 1350 & nn.10–12 (collecting cases). Guizhou Tyre Company v. United States is particularly informative. There the Court reviewed an explanation by Commerce, as to why it could not verify the respondent’s claims of non-use of the Export Buyer’s Credit Program. As summarized by the Court:

Commerce continues to find that there is a gap in the record because the Department cannot verify the submitted non-use declarations without additional information surrounding the 2013 revisions to the [Export Buyer’s Credit Program]. One of the revisions involved routing [Export Buyer’s Credit Program] loans through (undisclosed) third-party banks, and not through the Export-Import Bank of China . . . as Commerce originally thought. As in the previous administrative review, the Department reiterated that “[China] once again refused to provide the sample application documents or any regulations or manuals governing the approval process [for the Program].” Without this information, Commerce concluded that it could “not verify non-use of export buyer’s credits” “in a manner consistent with its verification methods, which are primarily the methods of an auditor, attempting to confirm usage or claimed non-usage by examining books and records which can be reconciled to audited financial statements, or other documents.” Commerce asserts that the “completeness” principle is “an essential element of Commerce’s verification methodology,” and without the allegedly “missing” information, the Department’s verification “would amount to looking for a needle in a haystack with the added uncertainty that Commerce might not even be able to identify the needle when it was found.” Therefore, Commerce continues to impute usage of the [Export Buyer’s Credit Program] based on the application of adverse facts available.

43 CIT __, __, 415 F. Supp. 3d 1335, 1341 (2019) (internal record citations omitted). The Court rejected Commerce’s explanation, noting that “[t]he Department’s (flawed) reasoning has remained unwavering” despite many opinions issued by the Court “urging Commerce to correct the repeated blatant deficiencies in its adverse facts available analyses of the [Export Buyer’s Credit Program].” Id. at __, 415 F. Supp. 3d at 1341. Specifically, the Guizhou Tyre Court found that Commerce had failed to make a finding that a “gap” in the record existed with respect to the required statutory elements of a countervailing duty determination:

Here, the Department’s investigation relates to whether the [Export Buyer’s Credit Program] provides a countervailable subsidy to Plaintiffs. Under the [countervailable duty] statute, this requires a finding that a specific financial contribution occurred, and a benefit was therefore conferred. See 19 U.S.C. § 1677(5). The gap then, must relate to either element of this inquiry. Just because Commerce resorted to adverse facts available “does not obviate the need for Commerce to affirmatively find that the elements of the statute have been satisfied.” [Changzhou Trina Solar Energy Co. v. United States, 43 CIT __, __, 359 F. Supp. 3d 1329, 1338 (2019)]. But as it currently stands, the Department has assumed the conclusion—that a gap in the record exists as a result of [China]’s failure to cooperate—without addressing what “constitutes a ‘gap’ in the record,” [Zhejiang DunAn Hetian Metal Co. v. United States, 652 F.3d 1333, 1347 (Fed. Cir. 2011)], and by pointedly closing its eyes on the evidence provided by Guizhou that would “fairly detract[]” from its ultimate conclusion, CS Wind Vietnam Co. v. United States, 832 F.3d 1367, 1373 (Fed. Cir. 2016). The law does not permit Commerce to circumvent the statutory requirements of the [countervailable duty] statute just because a respondent fails to cooperate; nor is Commerce “relieve[d] [] from relying on some facts to make the requisite determinations to satisfy the elements of 19 U.S.C. § 1677(5).” Changzhou Trina Solar Energy Co., 43 CIT [at] __, 359 F. Supp. 3d at 1340 (emphasis added).

Stripped away of its misconceptions surrounding the [adverse facts available] statute, the Department is left with the most compelling facts placed on the record: that Plaintiffs did not use the Program, and therefore, no specific benefit was conferred.

Id. at __, 415 F. Supp. 3d at 1342. The Guizhou Tyre Court found compelling that [t]here is evidence in the record that squarely detracts from Commerce’s inference that Plaintiffs used and benefited from the [Export Buyer’s Credit Program]. Commerce may not simply declare that the evidence cannot be verified and therefore, a gap exists. That is not how it works. Commerce must attempt verification in order to conclude that a gap exists related to that inquiry.

Id. at __, 415 F. Supp. 3d at 1343. Accordingly, the Guizhou Tyre Court remanded with instructions that Commerce “attempt verification of the submitted non-use declarations from Plaintiffs’ U.S. customers, using all reasonable tools at its disposal, including methods suggested by Plaintiffs and by this court;” and “detail its process in its remand redetermination as it relates to its verification of the non-use declarations.” Id. at __, 415 F. Supp. 3d at 1344.¹⁰

Here, Commerce’s statutory duty was to determine whether and to what extent the Export Buyer’s Credit Program provided a benefit to Junyue and Zhongjiang Bolts. See 19 U.S.C. § 1677(5) (defining countervailable subsidy). Under the statute, that determination required a finding as to whether “a specific financial contribution occurred, and a benefit was therefore conferred.” Guizhou Tyre, 43 CIT at __, 415 F. Supp. 3d at 1342 (citing 19 U.S.C. § 1677(5)).

¹⁰ After remands in the Guizhou Tyre case and other cases Commerce ultimately determined (under protest) that the Chinese respondents in each case had not used or benefitted from the Export Buyer’s Credit Program. Though Commerce “protests” the Court’s rulings on this issue, to the court’s knowledge, it has never appealed. See Clearon, 44 CIT at __, 474 F. Supp. 3d at 1353 n.13 (“It is worth noting that, despite Commerce’s respectful protest, the United States elected not to file an appeal in any of the aforementioned cases.”). Nonetheless, there are signs that Commerce is reconsidering its procedure for verifying claims of non-use of the program. See, e.g., Certain Mobile Access Equip. and Subassemblies Thereof From the People’s Republic of China, 86 Fed. Reg. 57,809 (Dep’t Commerce Oct. 19, 2021) and accompanying Issues and Decision Mem. (Oct. 12, 2021) at 49–50 (“[C]onsidering court precedent, Commerce developed supplemental questionnaires issued to mandatory respondents and their U.S. customers requesting additional information regarding its financing activities to probe claims of non-use for the Export Buyer’s Credit program.”); see also Risen Energy Co. v. United States, 46 CIT __, Slip Op. 22–44 at 5 (May 12, 2022) (granting voluntary remand so that “the Government may attempt to verify the customer certifications of non-use,” and directing that “[i]f the Government decides to remove the [Export Buyer’s Credit Program] from its subsidy calculation under protest but does not intend to appeal, it must explain on remand why the Court should not provide some form of equitable relief, such as the immediate return of deposits, or an injunction of the continued inclusion of the program with no attempt at verification that results in the temporary collection of funds that ultimately are not owed.”).

Evidence pertinent to this inquiry was on the record. Specifically, non-use declarations by Plaintiffs' U.S. customers show that neither of the Plaintiffs nor their U.S. customers used or benefitted from the program during the period of investigation. Additionally, screenshots of the results of searches of the Export Import Bank's databases purporting to show that China had no record of any Export Buyer's Credit Program loans being disbursed to Junyue or Zhongjiang Bolts, their affiliates, or their U.S. customers during the period of investigation are also on the record. See Final IDM at 31–34. The only statements on the record that Commerce refers to that might contradict these statements are in the petition. See Final IDM at 37 (noting that “the program was alleged by the petitioner as an example of a possible export subsidy”). To the extent Commerce relied on petition statements in the Final Determination, however, there is no evidence on the record that Commerce attempted to verify them, or the statements of non-use, or any of the information that China provided in response to Commerce's questionnaires. Nor for that matter have petitioners placed any evidence on the record to support their claims that Junyue, Zhejiang Bolts, or any of their U.S. customers actually took advantage of the program. See Resp. Quest. on Countervailing Duty Pet'n (Mar. 1, 2019) at 2, PR 43 (footnote omitted) (“As indicated in the Petition, many producers of [carbon and alloy steel threaded rod] export significant volumes of their production. It is therefore reasonable to assume that such companies avail themselves of the export credits available from the Chinese government. It is also reasonable to assume that their customers avail themselves of preferential buyer's credits.”). The statute mandates that Commerce “shall verify all information relied upon in making . . . a final determination in an investigation.” See 19 U.S.C. § 1677m(i)(1). It seems that here Commerce gave up on that duty by insisting that without the operational information that China failed to provide its “typical non-use verification procedure” would be too burdensome to employ, if, it turned out, that more than a “small number of loans” existed on the books of the Plaintiffs' U.S. customers. See Final IDM at 34. As this Court recently stated in response to Commerce's “unreasonably onerous” argument, “Commerce's position assumes that it cannot narrow the scope of its inquiry. But to know whether it can narrow the scope, or establish an alternative method of verification, Commerce needs to ask the [respondent] and its U.S. customers for assistance.” Both-Well (Taizhou) Steel Fittings, Co. v. United States, 46 CIT __, __, 557 F. Supp. 3d 1327, 1336 (2022) (citation omitted). The record does not show, and Commerce does not claim, that when deciding whether to verify the claims of non-use the Department undertook to determine the number of loans on Plaintiffs' U.S. customers' books during the period of investigation.

Under these circumstances, the court cannot say that substantial evidence supports Commerce's determination that a gap in the factual record existed as to whether Plaintiffs' U.S. customers used the Export Buyer's Credit Program to purchase subject merchandise exported by Plaintiffs.

The court further notes that, although the Federal Circuit has upheld the use of adverse facts available against a cooperative party where a foreign government has failed to provide requested information, it has not sanctioned Commerce's application of "adverse inferences to substitute for any information that was actually submitted by the cooperating respondents." Fine Furniture, 748 F.3d at 1372 (emphasis added); see also Archer Daniels Midland, 37 CIT at 769, 917 F. Supp. 2d at 1342 (citation omitted) (emphasis added) ("Commerce should seek to avoid such impact if relevant information exists elsewhere on the record.").

In past opinions, the Court has directed Commerce to confer with the parties to come up with a practical solution to attempt verification of the non-use evidence on the record, or exclude the Export Buyer's Credit Program rate from the calculation of the respondent's countervailing duty rate. To the court's knowledge, in each such case, Commerce chose "under protest" to exclude the Export Buyer's Credit Program rate from its countervailing duty rate calculation. Though, in this case, Defendant has expressed its disagreement with the Court's prior rulings, more recently, Commerce has demonstrated some willingness to reconsider its procedure for verifying claims of non-use of the program. See Def.'s Br. at 14 ("Commerce disagrees with the outcome of these prior cases examining the Export Buyer's Credit program."); see also Certain Mobile Access Equip. and Subassemblies Thereof From the People's Republic of China, 86 Fed. Reg. 57,809 (Dep't Commerce Oct. 19, 2021) and accompanying Issues and Decision Mem. (Oct. 12, 2021) at 49–50 ("[C]onsidering court precedent, Commerce developed supplemental questionnaires issued to mandatory respondents and their U.S. customers requesting additional information regarding its financing activities to probe claims of non-use for the Export Buyer's Credit program."). Thus, the court directs Commerce to either (1) find a practical solution to verify the non-use information on the record, such as the reopening of the record to issue supplemental questionnaires to respondents and their U.S.

customers (see supra note 10); or (2) recalculate the countervailing duty rates for Junyue and Zhongjiang Bolts to exclude the subsidy rate for the Export Buyer's Credit Program.

As for Junyue's Affiliates A and B, Commerce's finding that "there is no record evidence that indicates that Affiliates A and B *could not have benefitted*¹¹ from" the Export Buyer's Credit Program does not establish that they did with substantial evidence. As to the tripling of the claimed benefit received by Junyue based on Affiliates A and B's provision of services, this determination is so completely unexplained that it is difficult for the court to assess whether it is supported by substantial evidence or in accordance with law. On remand, should Commerce continue to attempt to justify its benefit determination as supported by substantial evidence and otherwise in accordance with law, it shall explain the tripling effect with specific citation to applicable statutes and substantial record evidence.

CONCLUSION AND ORDER

Based on the forgoing, it is hereby

ORDERED that this matter is remanded to Commerce; it is further

ORDERED that Commerce shall submit a redetermination upon remand that complies in all respects with this Opinion and Order; it is further

ORDERED that Commerce shall reconsider its calculation of Junyue's and Zhongjiang Bolts' individual countervailing duty rates and either (1) find a practical solution to verify the non-use information on the record, such as the reopening of the record to issue supplemental questionnaires to respondents and their U.S. customers; or (2) recalculate the countervailing duty rates for Junyue and Zhongjiang Bolts to exclude the subsidy rate for the Export Buyer's Credit Program; it is further

ORDERED that Commerce shall explain, with specific citation to applicable statutes and substantial record evidence, its decision to triple the rate selected for the Export Buyer's Credit Program when calculating Junyue's countervailing duty rate; and it is further ORDERED that Commerce's remand results shall be due ninety (90) days following the date of this Opinion and Order; any comments to the remand results shall be due thirty (30) days following the filing of the remand results; and any responses to those comments shall be filed fifteen (15) days following the filing of the comments.

OPINION AND ORDER

Kelly, Judge:

Before the court is Defendant United States' motion, brought pursuant to Rules 1 and 7 of the United States Court of International Trade, to stay proceedings in this case pending a decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit ("Court of Appeals") in Full Member Subgroup of the Am. Inst. of Steel Constr., LLC v. United States, No. 2022–1176 (Fed. Cir.) (“Full Member Appeal”). Def.’s Mot. to Stay Proceedings, Apr. 29, 2022, ECF No. 96 (“Def. Mot.”). Defendant-Intervenor Full Member Subgroup of the American Institute of Steel Construction, LLC (“AISC”) consents to the motion.¹ Id. at 2. Plaintiff, Building Systems de Mexico, S.A. de C.V. (“BSM”) opposes the motion. Resp. in Opp’n to Mot. to Stay, May 16, 2022, ECF No. 97 (“Pl. Opp.”). For the following reasons, the court denies the motion to stay proceedings.

BACKGROUND

On January 30, 2020, the U.S. Department of Commerce (“Commerce”) determined that imports of certain fabricated structural steel (“FSS”) from Mexico were being, or were likely to be, sold in the United States at less than fair value (“LTFV”), and its investigation yielded weighted-average dumping margins of 8.47 and 0.00 percent for BSM and Corey, respectively. See Certain [FSS] from Mexico, 85 Fed. Reg. 5,390, 5,392 (Dep’t Commerce Jan. 30, 2020) (final determination of sales at [LTFV]). BSM challenged Commerce’s determination in this Court pursuant to section 516A(a)(2)(B)(i) of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, 19 U.S.C. § 1516a(a)(2)(B)(i) (2012), which permits interested parties to challenge Commerce’s final determinations pursuant to 19 U.S.C. § 1673d that a product is or is likely to be sold in the United States at LTFV.² See Summons, Mar. 30, 2020, ECF No. 1; Compl., Mar. 30, 2020, ECF No. 6; see also [BSM’s] R. 56.2 Mot. for J. on Agency R., Feb. 23, 2021, ECF No. 60 (“Mot. for J. on Agency R.”). BSM asserted numerous deficiencies in the final results of Commerce’s LTFV investigation into FSS from Mexico, including deficiencies in Commerce’s calculation of BSM’s constructed value profit rate, Commerce’s application of adverse facts available, Commerce’s determination to use the purchase order date or sales order acknowledgment date as the date of sale for purposes of currency conversion, and Commerce’s calculation of BSM’s constructed export price. [BSM’s] Non-Confidential Memo. in Supp. of [Mot. for J. on Agency R.], 9–45, Feb. 23, 2021, ECF No. 60. On March 21, 2022, this court remanded Commerce’s LTFV determination for further consideration or explanation. See Bldg. Sys. de Mexico, S.A. de C.V. v. United States, 46 CIT ___, Slip Op. 22–25 (Mar. 21, 2022) (“BSM II”). The remand results from Commerce are due on June 20, 2022. Id.

On March 20, 2020, prior to this court’s remand of Commerce’s LTFV determination, the International Trade Commission (“ITC”) reached a final negative determination in its investigation into whether imports of FSS from Mexico cause (or represent a threat of) material injury to the domestic industry. [FSS] from Canada, China & Mexico, 85 Fed. Reg. 16,129 (USITC Mar. 20, 2020). AISC challenged the ITC's negative injury determination, and this Court sustained the ITC's findings. See Full Member Subgroup of Am. Inst. of Steel Constr., LLC v. United States, 45 CIT __, __, 547 F. Supp. 3d 1211, 1233 (2021). AISC appealed that decision to the Court of Appeals. See Full Member Appeal. The appeal is pending; briefing is ongoing, and oral argument has not been scheduled.

JURISDICTION AND STANDARD OF REVIEW

This Court has jurisdiction pursuant to 19 U.S.C. § 1516a(a)(2)(B)(i) and 28 U.S.C. § 1581(c), which grant the court authority to review actions contesting a final affirmative LTFV determination in an antidumping investigation. “[T]he power to stay proceedings is incidental to the power inherent in every court to control the disposition of the causes on its docket with economy of time and effort for itself, for counsel, and for litigants.” Landis v. North American Co., 299 U.S. 248, 254 (1936). Although the decision to grant or deny a stay rests within the court's sound discretion, courts must weigh and maintain an even balance between competing interests when deciding whether a stay is appropriate. See id. at 254–55; see also Cherokee Nation of Oklahoma v. United States, 124 F.3d 1413, 1416 (Fed. Cir. 1997).

DISCUSSION

Defendant argues that the court should stay this case pending a determination in the Full Member Appeal because “if the Federal Circuit affirms this Court's decision sustaining the ITC's negative injury determination and that judgment becomes final, Commerce will no longer need to complete the remand redetermination ordered in this case.” Def. Mot. at 5. Defendant notes the resources that will be expended by Commerce, the parties, and the Court in conducting the remand, and any challenges to the remand. Id. Defendant contends that there is no risk of harm to BSM because this court sustained the ITC's determination and the NAFTA panel is unlikely to reverse the ITC any time soon. Id. at 5–6. Defendant also argues that the stay requested here is of a limited duration (as opposed to the more extended stay previously requested by AISC and denied by the Court). Id. at 6; Building Systems de Mexico, S.A. de C.V. v. United States, 44 CIT __, __, 463 F. Supp. 3d 1344, 1349 (2020) (“BSM I”). BSM responds that the potential harm it confronts as a result of a stay is the same it confronted in AISC's earlier request for a stay, namely being subjected to a dumping order, paying cash deposits (at all or at a higher rate than needed), and potentially being subjected to an administrative review when it might not otherwise be subject to the antidumping order, depending on the outcome of this case. Pl. Opp. at 3 (citing BSM I, 463 F. Supp. 3d at 1348).

A stay is not appropriate in this case. This court has already concluded that Commerce's calculation of BSM's constructed value profit rate, Commerce's application of adverse facts available, Commerce's determination to use the purchase order date or sales order acknowledgment date as the date of sale for purposes of currency conversion, and Commerce's calculation of BSM's constructed export price are all unsupported by substantial evidence. BSM II at 8–12, 14–16, 17–18, 20–22, 24–26. Although it is too early to tell, it is not outside of the realm of possibility that BSM could achieve a zero or a de minimis rate and be excluded from any potential antidumping order. It is also possible Commerce will assign a rate to BSM lower than that originally found. Either possibility would significantly lower the burdens on BSM (the former possibly obviating the need to participate in an administrative review).

Although the Court will not rely upon a harm that is merely speculative to defeat a request for a stay, because of the proceedings in this case thus far, the harm to BSM is not speculative. BSM (as well as Defendant, Defendant-Intervenor and this Court) have already expended considerable resources briefing, arguing, and analyzing the issues in this case. BSM successfully challenged as unsupported by substantial evidence four Commerce determinations that form the basis of Commerce's finding of dumping. Id. A stay would significantly devalue BSM's investment in its challenge to Commerce's finding of dumping necessary for an order to issue. Should the ITC reverse course, BSM would be able to pursue its challenge; however, it would have to do so after an order had issued. BSM would have to pay cash deposits at the rate currently established by Commerce, which has already been determined to be unsupported by substantial evidence. Id. BSM would likely have to participate in an administrative review.³

The burdens BSM faces distinguish this case from those cited by the Defendant. See Deacero S.A.P.I. de C.V. v. United States, Slip Op. 15–87, 2015 WL 4909618 (Ct. Int'l Trade Aug. 17, 2015) (finding the mere assertion of delay and inefficiency insufficient to defeat a stay); RHI Refractories Liaoning Co. v. United States, 35 CIT 407, 412, 774 F. Supp. 2d 1280, 1285 (2011) (neither defendant nor defendant-intervenor identified any harm that would result from stay); NTN Bearing Corp. of Am. v. United States, 36 C.I.T. 846, 850 (2012) (defendant failed to identify any harm that would result from stay).

Likewise, the Court finds Diamond Sawblades, cited by Defendant, favors Plaintiff's position. See Def. Mot. at 6 (citing Diamond Sawblades Mfrs. Coal. v. United States, 34 CIT 404, 407 (2010)). In Diamond Sawblades, plaintiff sought a stay, to which the defendant and the defendant-intervenor consented, pending the appeal of a negative ITC determination to this Court. See Consent Mot. to Stay Proceedings, Diamond Sawblades Mfrs. Coal. v. United States, Court No. 06-cv-00246 RKM (CIT Oct. 4, 2006), ECF No. 27; see also Diamond Sawblades, 34 CIT at 404. This Court remanded the negative injury determination to the ITC, which then reversed its determination and found injury. Diamond Sawblades, 34 CIT at 405. The Court sustained the injury finding, with an antidumping order issuing subsequently. Id. The CIT had not begun to hear the appeal of the Commerce determination at the time of the request for a stay. See id. After the ITC reversed course and this Court sustained, the plaintiff sought to lift the stay in order to challenge the Commerce determinations in hopes of obtaining higher rates. Id. This Court denied the motion to lift the stay concluding, "the current challenges to the estimated dumping margins set forth in Final Results are essentially over [the] rate of antidumping duties that the importers will ultimately pay, but the suit now awaiting a decision at the Federal Circuit will establish conclusively whether antidumping duties should be paid at all." Id. at 407.

Thus, the Court in Diamond Sawblades acknowledged the significance of a challenge that might defeat an order altogether, which is exactly what BSM seeks to do in this case.⁴ Moreover, this case is already under way with a remand having issued, as opposed to Diamond Sawblades, where the Plaintiff itself sought a stay prior to resolution of its initial challenge, see Diamond Sawblades, Court No. 06-cv00246-RKM, got the stay, and then sought to lift the stay prior to the resolution of the corresponding ITC challenge. Diamond Sawblades, 34 CIT at 405. Finally, Diamond Sawblades illustrates the risk to BSM. If the ITC ultimately reverses itself, and an antidumping duty order issues, BSM will be required to pay cash deposits and possibly submit to an administrative review, all while waiting to conclude this litigation in which it seeks to obviate the need for compliance with any such order.⁵

The ITC's and Commerce's determinations in a dumping case normally proceed on parallel tracks with determination from both being necessary for issuance of an antidumping duty order. See 19 U.S.C. §1673. Awaiting decisions of the Court of Appeals will always alleviate the burdens on the parties and this Court, but the possible mootness that might result from a Court of Appeals decision is not enough in this case to pause this litigation given the harm the plaintiff confronts if the Court of Appeals reverses. See Giorgio Foods, Inc. v. United States, 37 C.I.T. 152, 154–55 (2013) (denying stay sought to await further clarification by Court of Appeals). It would be unfair to use BSM's and its affiliates' success in the ITC, and in this Court, as a reason to delay its resolution of its challenge to the Commerce determination given the harm that BSM would suffer as a result of a reversal by the Court of Appeals.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, it is ORDERED that the motion for a stay is DENIED.

⁵ Conversely, in Diamond Sawblades, the result of the plaintiff's challenge to Commerce's LTFV determination could only have resulted in a change in rate, not the elimination of the need to comply with the antidumping order altogether. Id. at 407.
