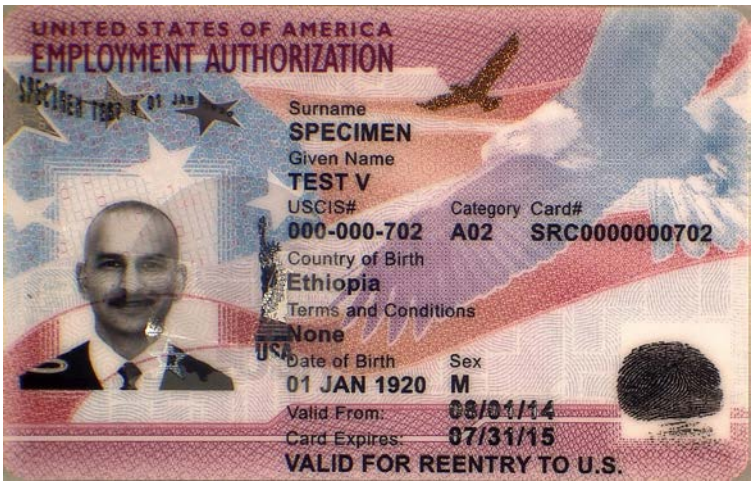
New Employment Authorization Document

United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) will be issuing a redesigned Employment Authorization Document (EAD). USCIS will begin issuing the new cards on May 1, 2017. The redesigned card uses enhanced graphics and fraud resistant security features to create highly secure and more tamper resistant cards. All current Employment Authorization Documents remain valid until the expiration date on the cards.



As a reminder, only the EADs annotated on the front of the card "VALID FOR RE-ENTRY TO THE U.S." and "SERVES AS I-512 ADVANCE PAROLE' are valid for travel. The cards annotated "NOT VALID FOR REENTRY" are not valid for travel.
